

CSES BIOMEDICAL REPRESENTATIVE

Riley Hanna

Get to Know Me

Hello, my name is Riley Hanna and I am in my second year of my undergraduate degree in Biomedical and Mechanical Engineering. I am from Nova Scotia, which is where my love of swimming and eating delicious food comes from. Recently, I got a kitten named Oatmeal who keeps me busy with her crazy shenanigans.

Why I am Running

Over the last year I have required almost every resource offered at Carleton, both in the Engineering Facility and the university itself. CSES is a hub for resources for anyone in the faculty, which I believe is very important especially because of the physical and mental toll engineering and design programs take on a person. Due to my past experiences with the school resources, I want to be able to help be an advocate for current and future students who need help finding their voice and getting the resources they need. I know that my face is relatively new to the community however, I have many connections throughout the community both in the Biomedical program and others. I also am very eager to get out, meet new people and create connections.

I hope that I may get the chance to be part of a council that strives for community and outreach. I know that I would learn a lot from the amazing people on the council and maybe bring a new view/experience myself.

Qualifications

May 2023 - Current: Material Specialist (HR)

September 2023 - Current: Biomedical and Mechanical Clubs Rep

September 2022 - Current: Member of the Engineering Community