

Pg. 6

Pg. 20

Pg. 25

THE CARLETON STUDENT ENGINEERING NEWSPAPER

THE IRON TIMES

The Peepee Poopoo Times

mycses.ca/publications/irontimes

April 2022

Some Lovely Poetry

Happy late NEM!

Alas at home I lay my hat
Atop my throne a seat I sat
To hear of songs the aft desire
Of broken wings and promise dire

Reminiscent of scent so sweet
The sounds of solace broken feats
I sing aloud my song to keep
I peed my pants, I pissed my sheets

And in my puddle I lay to weep
To hear my cries my broken heap
Could never be to life untrue
I shit my bed, my pants I poed

The floor does wreek of stench so foul
From my bedroom comes but a growl
My wolf inside, a hungering thirst
A fault, no lie, but not my first

By: Rick Deckard

Come with me and take a rest,
The hike is long a hundred peers abreast,
The cliffs we've climbed,
The falls we've had,
The view is worth our minds gone mad,

Recall the day on which we embarked,
Fear in our mind, our hearts which sparked,
At the foot of the mountain our journey enshroud,
Would we reach the summit smothered in cloud?

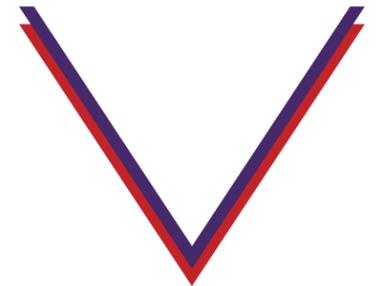

Week after week, day after day,
Foot after foot, we labor away,
Although the summit is far from today,
The world we see is quite the display,

The friends we've made, many we've lost,
For the trek is hard with constant accost,
Our paths diverge and intersect,
Eight months of time to reconnect,

But once we reach the peak so high,
We shall not weep, happy tears we'll cry,
For our journey is over, our path becomes one's each,
We may yet sculpt the world and add to the mountains reach.

By: Zach (AERO III)

READ ON, I DARE YOU

How To Find A SIGNIFICANT OTHER
PAGE 9

DADDY'S
DELICIOUS
COCKTAILS
PAGES 11-12

SHITTY ADVICE
PAGES 13-14

CSES EVENT CALENDAR
& EXEC UPDATES
PAGES 27-39

DISTRACTIONS
PAGES 32-35

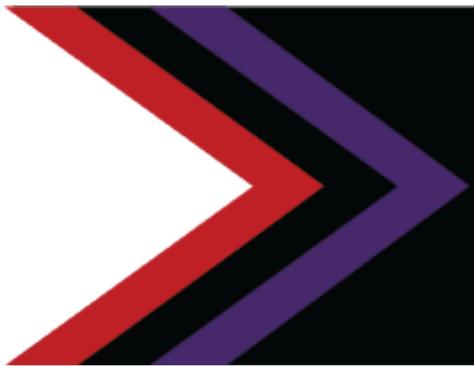

AND MUCH MORE!

WARNING:

This publication may contain offensive material. It should not be read by anyone who is easily offended. All opinions expressed within are solely those of the contributors; they do not reflect the views of the Carleton Student Engineering Society. This paper is purely satirical in nature and is not intended to be malicious in any matter.

If you wish to express your views on the content within, please email us at irontimes@cses.carleton.ca.

EDITORIALS

aa

From the Desk of the Editor

A Love Letter to Super Smash Bros Melee

Buster "Silly Silly" Biggs
- CIVE IV -

In honor of Valentine's Day (I know that was last month but stfu), I got to thinking about things I love in my life. I love games, but there is definitely one that stands out. That game is Super Smash Brother Melee. SSBM is one of the oldest games (it was its 20th anniversary last year) with an active competitive scene drawing hundreds of thousands of viewers at major tournaments and with a very active community. How did this game last so long? I will go over a few of the reasons I love this game so much and hopefully that will partially answer this question. But first, I will briefly explain the basics of how Smash works.

SMASH BROS CRASH COURSE

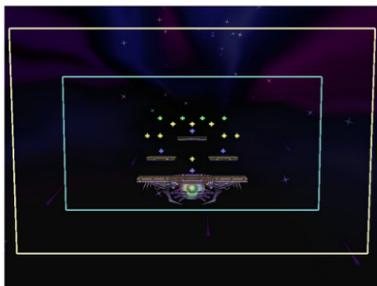

Super Smash Bros is a "platform fighter". This type of fighting game differs from traditional fighting games such as Street Fighter and Tekken. Platform fighters operate by using lives or 'stocks' instead of one health bar leading to a KO.

VS.

The 'stage' is contained within a box called the blast zone, if you fall out of this box or are thrown out of this box, you die. The more you are hit, the easier it is to hit you out of this box. This is denoted by a percentage - when this percentage increases, the knockback dealt to you by moves also increases (until you are hit out).

Smash Bros Melee is the second game in the smash series and was made for the Nintendo Gamecube in 2001. It is the first game to fully utilize and take advantage of the platform fighter format. There are 26 characters in SSBM, half of which are considered competitively viable. All characters have an equal number of possible moves, however most characters have a substantially different toolkit. Types of moves include: tilts (weak hits, either forward, up, or down), smashes (slower strong hits, either forward, up, or down), aerials (variable strength moves in the air, either forward, back, neutral, up, or down) and special moves (projectiles/special effect moves, either up, down, or side). The movement controls are entirely analog (not a digital 1 or 0), meaning this game has a practically infinite number of options in any given situation. This is responsible for the amazing creativity and expression found in this game.

~So... What makes this game so great?

IT IS FUCKING DIFFICILE

Many games are beloved because of their difficulty : Cuphead, Dark Souls, Counter Strike, Starcraft, etc. It presents a level of challenge and brings satisfaction once you see yourself improve. This however, is not something you would expect from a party game such as Smash Bros, but through the discovery of a series of exploits/techniques that require extremely precise timing to execute, the game has been catapulted into the competitive sphere because of its difficulty.

Melee is now known as a game with a very unforgiving skill curve. To a new player, the game can feel extremely unwieldy, slow, confusing, and just outright bad. Melee is the only smash game still played today that does not have a buffer system which gives some leniency on the timing button inputs, which means that you need to grind every move to get a sense of how long you need to wait before performing another move. However, once you have put a bit of practice into the basic movement techniques (i.e. L-Cancelling, wavedashing/wavelanding, dash-dancing, edge hopping), a whole new world of possibilities open up. The game undergoes a cinderella transformation and turns from a clunky, janky mess to one of the most rewarding movement engines of any game. Watch the video below to see what crazy things can be done with Melee's movement mechanics.

too much for nintendo ~ movement highlights

But do not be fooled, that movement is only possible after years and years of practice. And EVEN then is it almost impossible to stay 100% consistent. Techniques such as Ledge-Dashing are notorious for their precise execution (and inconsistency) and the consequence of messing it up is an SD (self-destruct, meaning you die). Even the highest levels of play are plagued by tech-skill errors which is part of the reason this game has persevered. Over the last 20 years, players have tuned and refined tech-skill and created ways of more effectively practicing. The game has been treated like a craft which is still in the process of being perfected, and likely will not be for a very long time. Below is a video showing how many inputs per second high level melee requires: inputs /sec
Once you have a grip on the precise movement, it feels as if you are in total control and your character is like an extension of yourself. This allows you to develop a unique play style based on your personality. After watching competitive melee for a while, you can begin to know who is playing in a match solely by their playstyle, as their play is a reflection of their personality.

EMERGENT GAMEPLAY

Many of the techniques utilized in competitive play are unintentional mechanics/exploits discovered over the years. At the inception of the melee competitive scene, the vast majority of techniques were not discovered or were deemed too difficult to use consistently. Over time, more and more techniques were discovered and implemented into competitive play which has elevated the level of play considerably. This has allowed the game to evolve and change and prevent the meta from stagnating. This can be clearly seen in the tier list progression over the years; things have changed significantly since the beginning and continue to shift over time. Twenty years later, the tier list is still heavily debated and character ranks are not clearly defined. Major shifts have even happened over the last two years as new tech has started to be utilized and has had a huge impact on the tier of certain characters (e.g. Pikachu and Yoshi have climbed the tier list).

EDITORIALS

i want soup

Another important point is how low-tier characters have certain advantages. People tend to play the high tier characters, because they often have the most options and are generally much harder/better/faster/stronger. Some players decide to use lower tier characters, but have a slight advantage because of the matchup rarity. As an example, many people play fox because he is considered the best character in the game, this also means fox players are most used to the fox matchup. So if a player is proficient with a less common character, the fox players will not have the matchup experience needed to play said character easily. Additionally, players exploring some of the low tiers have significantly increased their rank in the tier list. For example, the player “Axe” has won major tournaments with Pikachu; a character which was placed in D tier in 2010 and has now risen to B+ tier. Another player named ‘aMSa’ has taken sets off of top 10 players and is now ranked top 20 worldwide with Yoshi, a character which was ranked D tier in 2015 and is now also ranked B+ tier.

This constant flux and discovery is extremely interesting and engaging. People still continue to explore new technical options and low tier characters such as Doctor Mario, Mewtwo, Donkey Kong, Link, Young Link, and Luigi (in some cases had great results). Melee is very much a living game, it is not immutable like games often are, it changes and evolves with us. This has allowed the competitive scene to grow and kept things fresh.

THE STORYLINES/VIEWER EXPERIENCE

The other characteristic that has allowed melee to continue to thrive is its value as a spectator sport. Melee is incredibly fast, exciting, and is full of extremely compelling storylines that keep you engaged as a spectator. During in-person events, the crowd roars and cheers, and the players pop off when they win. Melee commentators also tend to be extremely exciting to listen to and provide great insight about what the players are thinking. Fun fact: the term “wombo combo” comes from a moment in smash history. Many fans got introduced to the competitive scene by the “Smash Documentary”, a full length feature highlighting the strange and interesting competitive scene and the many stories it has to tell. Many aspects of this documentary have not aged well, but it is how I was introduced to smash in the first place and tells a good story. A new documentary “Metagame” was released in 2020 and showed off some of the newer stories from the competitive scene.

One of the most amazing melee story lines is the Era of the 5 Gods. This was a period of time during which 5 players had absolute dominance over competitive melee. They won every major tournament that at least one attended, and were on a level of their own when compared to even the other top 10 players.

Mang0: Considered by many the greatest melee player of all time, this fox & falco main is known for his incredibly aggressive and creative style. Mang0 excels under pressure and has the ability to crush players when the crowd is behind him. He has been wildly inconsistent over the span of his career, but has had extremely high highs to counterbalance that fact. He is currently ranked #2 in the world after many years of shoddy results, proving that he can still keep up after all these years.

Armada: The most consistent of the gods, Armada is a peach/fox main and is known for his brutal punish game. Armada has without a doubt had the longest reign of all the gods, not placing lower than 5th at any tournament since the beginning of his career. Some consider him to be the greatest player of all time due to his sheer dominance, but his career was cut short when he retired in 2018.

Mew2King: A marth and sheik main, Mew2King pioneered most of the frame data and tech analysis of the game and was on a quest to be fully optimal. For this reason he was dubbed “the Robot”. He was characterized by his technical consistency and brutal punish game on fox/falco on FD (Final Destination).

PPMD: PPMD was a marth and falco main and is characterized by his efficient play and explosive combos. He had a very short career as he had to retire due to medical reasons, but was extremely dominant during that short span.

Hungrybox: A solo Jigglypuff main, Hungrybox is the only high level jigglypuff around. He is known for his patient and precise play, many people get mad at this player because his style differs so much from what is expected in melee. He completely dominated the game after the retirement of Armada, prompting people to claim that jigglypuff was the true best character in the game (this is beeg BS). Hungrybox is still among the top ranks of players to this day.

This Era of the 5 Gods is just one note in a vast complex web of storylines, and to be honest the excitement that comes from this context is why watching Melee is so exciting (Holy hell I'm a sports fan).

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, I love this game. Even when it infuriates me because of its precision, even when I suffer soul crushing losses, even when my favorite players don't win, and even when I am FULL ON SEETHING. I just hope that this article succeeds in portraying why, and maybe even succeeds in pushing some of you to look into Melee as a game or even a spectator sport. I compiled a list of great videos on various melee topics in the appendix if you are interested in taking a look. Melee is the most accessible it has ever been - you can download and play online from your computer, there are practice programs that make it extremely easy to improve, all you need is a gamecube controller and adapter.

“Life is a crazy, mystical thing. And sometimes, you just go out like a buster. And there is nothing you can do about it.” - C9 Mang0 (i just like this quote)

APPENDIX

20 years of melee commemoration:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bh4QD8xa0Fg>

The strange case of Abate vs S2J:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EqgYs7Be0kY>

Best Evo moments:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Im68s2z0AAY>

Clutch Moments Compilation:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PO1sttbxuiM>

Yo did he just walk up and downsmash?:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3NMhGCf20i0>

Melee analysis Channel:
<https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCnPWJGK2WaLdycTOCtSciY>

Channel devoted to the smash bros melee oddities:
<https://www.youtube.com/c/AsumSaus>

Axe 4 Stock vs Silent wolf:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bj7IX18ccdY>

Leffen vs Chillindude Money Match:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7i0PUCX7VEw>
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KhsOW-_TfwU

Diss track from chillin dude that preceded said money match:
https://youtu.be/9w3WXKH9_uw

Bizarro Flame vs Eikelmann Money Match:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=k3GMlpc2ZZQ>

Documentary about Hungrybox:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dmLSJrA0n9w>

IBDW loses to Hungrybox and freaks out:
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UWYfC_oqNrs

Ganondorf is the best character in melee:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kZnJhUld7Ek>

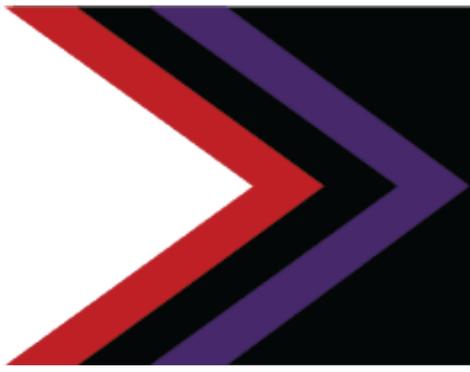

Mang0 - the musical:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nVJpDHyRjPw>

Smash summit 5 EVA:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fK3-QLmAYuU>

History of Smash:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q5LZywnZhAk>

The story of Leffen - the godslayer:
<https://youtu.be/-m5RnRySsEU>

The most unfortunate SDs:
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RJUGeKBKj6g>

EDITORIALS

sdakjhdfksaj

From the Desk of the (other) Editor

My Roommates: An Objective Review

Zahira "Eat your Words" Bakr
- SOFT III -

For those of you who don't know, I happen to live in a 6-person house, meaning that I share the majority of my waking moments in the same building as 5 other people. This results in something I like to call "everybody's personal hell", "why the fuck are y'all up at 5am", and "who decided to ice the shower this time". As such, I have plenty of ammunition for these 5 individuals, so I will share their shortcomings and strengths as roommates with you all.

[disclaimer: i love every person on this list]

ALEX

- Always looks like she just woke up
- Vibes in the living room while doing schoolwork a lot which is nice when I just need to see another human person
- Always super cozy which I 100% respect
- Has a water bottle the size of a football. I'm not sure how I feel about it but I definitely respect it

ZACH

- Has way too high a standard for how loud music should be, especially at 3am
- Will sometimes enter a frenzy and clean the entire living area
- Has a feud with our can opener
- Needs to know the difference between the Italian flag and the nonbinary flag
- Apple juice FIEND (currently has 2 full crates of apple juice)

LIAMM

- Opens my jars for me
- Was my residence roommate so clearly I didn't hate living with him since I chose to do it again
- Owns several completely random electrical parts for projects that will never be finished
- You need to plan for "Liamm is late" time for any plans you make with him
- Not entirely organized
- Overall a very wholesome and loveable person

MYA

- Never before have I seen a sleep schedule so fucked up – this isn't a point against you, it's just incredulous
- Gives me a bowl of fruit when I'm sad
- Will scratch at my bedroom door and then sit at the foot of bed like a cat
- Will kill you if you use a hand towel as a dish towel or vice versa
- Will fall asleep while vibing with you

ANNA

- Will repeatedly leave trash not in a trash can but right by one
- Drops their phone on my face
- Supportive partner
- Us living together means we can have a separate bedroom and an office room so I don't spend 22 hours a day in the same room
- Just made me soup

FINAL SCORES

Overall, the final scores are as follows:

- Liamm: 9.7/10
- Anna: 8/10
- Mya: 7.77777777/10
- Alex: 6.9/10
- Zach: i/10

These are objectively the correct ratings for my roommates. Do with this information what you will, because I don't know what I'm going to do with it.

EDITORIALS

>.<

It's Nadiya Scratchley, the VP Publications!!!

The Random Thoughts of a VP Pubs

Nadiya "Zuckerberg" Scratchley
- AERO C III -

Hello friends! I had a bunch of small ideas for Iron Times editorials, but none of them were big enough to write a full fledged article. Get ready to read the ramblings of a VP Pubs, Nadiya.

1. I failed fluids 2 this past semester. It's the first class I failed, and man, it really sucked. I'm in aero C, so I didn't even need to take fluids 2 but I thought "Hey, this may be fun!" IT WAS NOT FUN! Only stupid people decide to take MAAE3300 for fun. In fact, only stupid people decide to take MAAE3300 even if it is required for the program. I said it. If you are in mech or any aero that's not C, I highly advise you leave the program and become an elec instead to avoid it. DOE FOR LIFE!

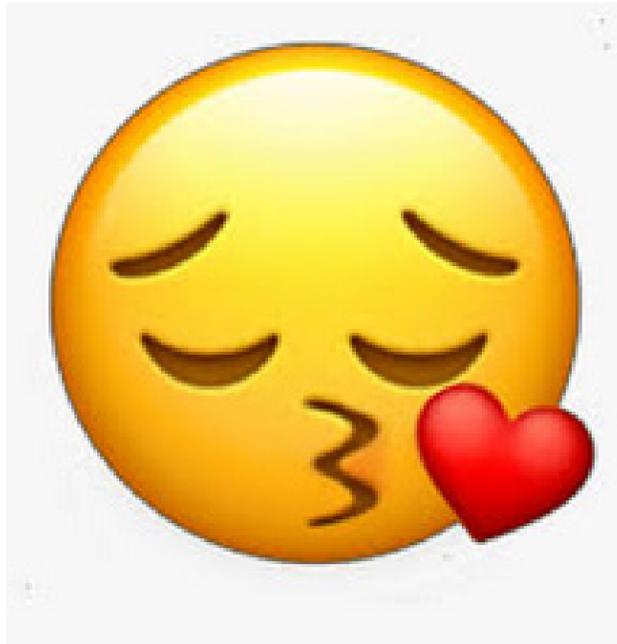

2. You should come rock climbing with me. Like no joke, you can find me at the Coyote rock climbing gym at least 3 times a week. For the amount of time I spend rock climbing, I really should be way better than I am, but I'm not that good. Whether I'm good or not is beside the point though. Just send me a message on messenger or discord and we'll find a good time to climb together.

3. So VP Publications is a really super fun position. You get to hire lots of directors and make new friends, as well as work on the coveted Iron Times and Gong Show. Do you also want to be worshiped in C-Eng for being a VP of CSES while doing only half the work that the other execs do? Then please run for VP Publications in the next election. It's fun I promise!

4. Cobra Kai is the best show on Netflix. You may want to argue and say it's Bojack Horseman, but you're wrong Luka! If you haven't watched Cobra Kai yet, it is essentially a sequel to the Karate Kid saga. The show follows Johnny Lawrence as he takes his neighbor, a young gentleman named Miguel, under his wing to teach him the way of the fist. Johnny has constant beef with his arch nemesis, a successful car salesman named Danny Larusso, who is teaching Johnny's estranged son Miyagi Do karate. The show has Degrassi High vibes, in the sense that it is an overly dramatic high school themed TV show. It's the best. I love it so much. Do yourself a favor and please watch it. Hawk is bae. COBRA KAI!!!

This concludes my ramblings as an insomniac aerospace student. I love you C-Eng! So have a good night and don't let the monsters bite.

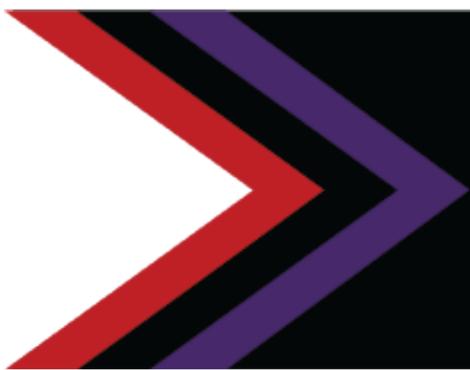

❤ elizabeth-catarina

school is over!! u know what that means!! ;)

❤ elizabeth-catarina

doesnt know how to manage unstructured time

COLUMNS

THAT LAST SLICE OF PIZZA IS MINE AND I AM KILLING FOR IT

ROCK PAPER SCISSORS OPENINGS BY A GRANDMASTER (NOT AT ALL TRUE)

Ridley Singh
- BIOMED AND MECH III -

Rock Paper Scissors is a skillful game, believe it or not. I've been playing Rock Paper Scissors for a long time and am currently unbeaten (unless someone figures out my strategy).

I'm pretty sure all of you were actually cool and did something with your life, but not me. Since I was three years old, I would study and explore the unknowns of the world of Rock Paper Scissors, developing the perfect strategy to be undefeated.

Disclaimer: Fuck anyone who does Rock Paper Scissors Shoot. Why is there a shoot? That is illogical. Please, no more bullshit. Anyways, onto the tips:

1. Be cocky - Call out your first move

Before you say Rock Paper Scissors you call out your move. For example every time I play I will always say I'm going to choose Scissors. This makes it almost impossible to lose. After calling out a move they will not choose it. That leaves Rock and Paper as the only two options. Therefore I choose Paper so I either tie or win.

This seems like a simple trick but I have never faced anyone who beat me in round one.

You have to do this on the first move. It creates momentum and throws the opponent off because you deceived them. Trust me they will never choose Scissors.

Paper vs Paper (T) Paper vs Rock (W)

2. Fundamentals

If you tie, they will most likely not choose Paper again leaving Rock and Scissors as the only two options. Therefore you have to choose Rock so you either win or tie.

Paper vs Paper (T)

Rock vs Scissors (W) Rock vs Rock (T)

If you win, you basically win now. After someone loses the first round they will not choose Rock this round. This will make Scissor and Paper their only options they will choose. Therefore choosing Scissors will make you win.

Paper vs Rock (W)

Scissors vs Scissors (T) Scissors vs Paper (W)

Just keep on following these fundamentals and you will win 3/0. This works 60% of the time for me. Seriously, it's that easy.

3. The errors in part 2

When the games tie too frequently, they may choose the same one more than once, causing the pattern to be thrown off. I usually change it up after two ties in a row. Then I return to number two. This is how I win 90% of my games.

NOW THE OUTLIERS:

I haven't met many, but a couple players have thrown me off. These are individuals that can think while playing Rock Paper Scissors. The majority of people play whatever comes to mind, whereas some individuals think a couple moves ahead based on patterns. Here are some of the strategies I employ.

4. Be a dick - This tactic can only work if it's round 3 to 4

The worst thing on a test is having the same answers for 5 answers in a row. Well it's the same thing for Rock Paper Scissors. I have won many games choosing Scissors 5 times in a row. It puts the opponent in such an uncomfortable spot. You can see it in your opponents eyes... the fear. I make people sweat with this tactic. The only way to pull it off though is you have to stare at their eyes and not take breaks in between each round.

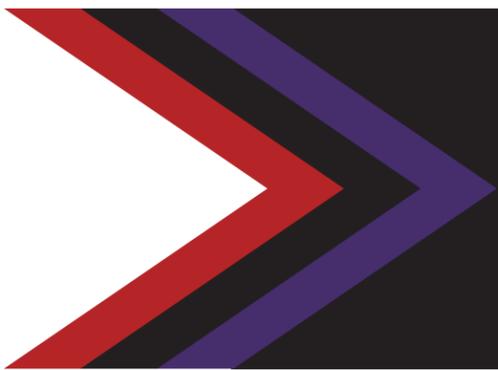

5. Don't overthink or underestimate them

At this point you may lose but don't give up all hope. Try to think what they are thinking. This is the point where it's 50/50.

Overall, I'm confident that if you use these strategies, you'll always receive the final slice of pizza or the best project section.

Remember that if someone learns these strategies as well, everything will be thrown off.

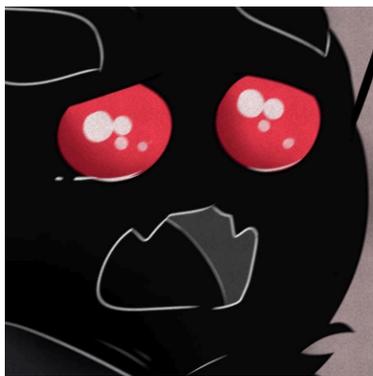

COLUMNS

"[Krum's wand was] Rather thicker than one usually sees..."

SNAPEISM

MORMONISM, BUT MAKE IT HARRY POTTER FLAVOURED

NOBODY CAN STOP ME; NOT EVEN GOD

Mya Binns
- BΘ ENG III -

Internet fandoms are extremely widespread on every social media platform. From K-Pop stans saying you should've stanned Loona, to Onceler x Lorax shippers on Tumblr, every piece of media has a small section of the internet carved out for it. The Harry Potter fandom is no exception to this. Given how popular the books and movies are, Harry Potter fans are everywhere on the internet. For the most part, the fans like to discuss the books, movies, possible ship pairings, and how fuckable each character's feet are. But there exists an even weirder corner of the HP fandom; Snapewives.

"What is a Snapewife??" -You, probably.

I'm so glad you probably asked that! Snapewives were women in the HP fandom who believed that they could channel Severus Snape's spirit to talk with him and have him inhabit their bodies. Right off the bat, I need to put this disclaimer out: people were dead serious about it. I need you to understand that this wasn't a joke a few people made online, people actually believed in this.

Am I sorry for this? No.

Snapewives practised Snapeism, a quasi-religion which focuses on worshipping Snape not as a character in a fictional book series, but as an omnipotent god with whom they could talk. Snapewives believed that J.K. Rowling wrote the Harry Potter books because Snape channelled his divine energy into her. One of the core aspects of Snapeism is that everyone who followed it was married to Snape himself. The ceremony to welcome a new sister-wife was sacred and was believed to be an actual wedding by these people. There was even a Snapeist vow for this wedding, an excerpt from it reads:

"... I promise to obey you, no matter what... I solemnly promise all of this to you,
Severus Snape, my only love.
May these words create a strong loving bond, which can only be broken by death. If I break the promises made, or treat you not in the manner I should be, I'll make sure I'll die."

- Lady Darkness

Again, these people weren't fucking around about being married to Snape. Wedding vows weren't the only thing to be written. Prayers, sacraments, erotic fanfiction, and theology were all a part of Snapeism. These were largely written by Lady Darkness and a few other prominent Snapewives. In fact, these people were so influential in the Snapewives community that they essentially had control over the characterization of Snape's spirit, his dick size, means of which he communicated with people, and many other aspects.

This was taken so seriously that a peer-reviewed scientific article was published about the group and its origins. The article primarily talks about how Snapeism has been denied religious status due to sexism and other social factors.

"The divisions that tend to separate religion from non-religion are often biased and overly simplified. In the case of Snapeism, unpleasant gender expectations and the normalisation of the male experience have led to the religion category being denied to them" (Alderton, 2014).

Snapewives were most active in 2006 and were a really new thing on the internet. Given how large the Harry Potter fandom was at the time in comparison to the overall size of the internet, Snapewives were not some obscure group hiding in a dark corner of the internet. These people were vocal and engaged in the Harry Potter fandom, spreading the gospel of Snape's supposed love-making skills. Nowadays, religion-like fandoms are not uncommon. BTS' Army and other K-Pop stan groups have been compared to a cult due to how defensive they are of their idols. But I would argue that these fandoms will never be anything compared to the extreme beliefs of some of the Snapewives. In my opinion, there will never be anything like Snapeism again.

Was Snape the original Tumblr sexyman? Discuss.

With how infamous Snapeism became, how did it fall? It wasn't the mockery and attacks of outsiders that brought the fandom down, it was constant fighting on the inside. As previously mentioned, Snapewives took their marriages to Snape as seriously as any other marriage. But this raised questions and concerns about the Snapewives; a lot of them were middle-aged women who were married to real humans. Since you can't legally be married to two people at the same time, an ethical debate was posed: were women allowed to divorce their husbands in order to legally marry Severus Snape? Some women chose to stay celibate and only have sex with Snape's spirit. Another woman claimed that Snape's spirit would quite rigid... ten and a quarter inches..." -PoA possess her real-life husband during sex. Others argued that because Snape had multiple wives, they could also have multiple husbands. Is there a moral or ethical end to this debate? Probably, but that's not why I'm here. Ethical debates aside, there was more pressing drama over the horizon that would truly break the base.

COLUMNS

The religion truly fell apart when disaster struck: one of the most well-known Snapewives fell in love with another person. By person, I mean Jethro Gibbs from NCIS. Other Snapewives were appalled to see this betrayal and it descended into pure madness. The community dissolved and even if there were a few loose Snapewives out there, they hardly got any attention. Some Snapewives also blamed the downfall on J.K. Rowling for mishandling Snape's spirit and ignoring the fans. I've never read Harry Potter so I can't comment on Snape's characterization or character development, but from what I know about J.K. Rowling, it wouldn't surprise me if his character arc was shit and was a base-breaker.

Regardless of the "true" reason the Snapewives fell apart, it's pretty dead and gone by now. Very few posts have been archived, the Snapewives themselves have disappeared off the internet (presumably to live their regular lives), and very few remember this bizarre phenomenon. After so many years, it's difficult to fully explain the true nature of the group and to what extent members were devoted to it. So much has been hyperbolized through retellings and outsiders' interactions with the fandom. I also cannot confirm that pictures I've included in this article are from actual Snapewives or people who made them to poke fun at the group.

Some of you reading are probably thinking that this obsession with a fictional character is akin to a cult or even a real life religion. And you'd be right. While this group didn't have the same indoctrination techniques that cults apply, the cult-like devotion to Snape is uneasy. It is possible that these people had some mental illness issues; attaching to a fictional character for emotional stability was one of their coping mechanisms. But it's also equally likely that these people just really wanted to fuck Snape.

Like all of my articles, I don't really have a conclusion for this. I just felt like I needed to discuss this and inflict this cursed knowledge upon you. Stay tuned for more awful articles!

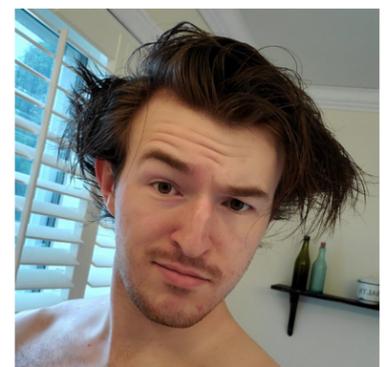

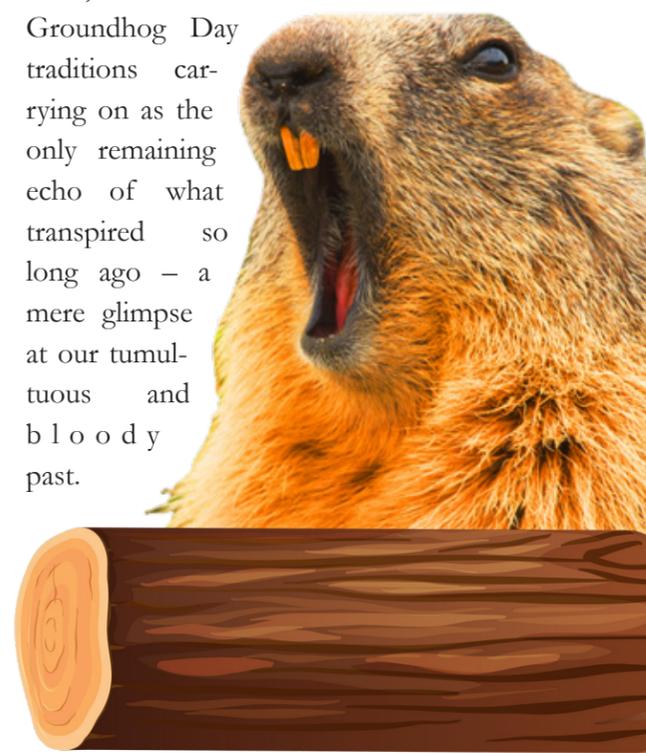

TOTALLY LEGIT HISTORY

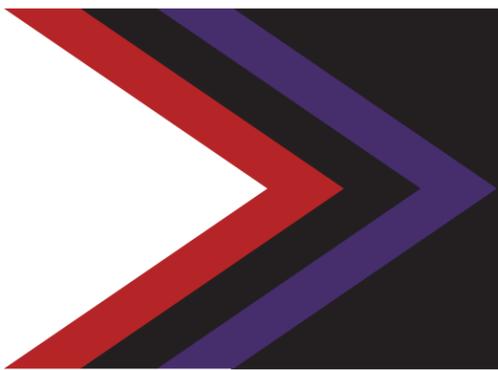

The Origins of Groundhog Day

When settlers first arrived in North America, they were overwhelmed by the beauty of the land and the prosperity that surrounded them. They took this abundance for granted, however, and began hunting the resident fauna without restraint. Before long, populations of native creatures were dwindling. The house hippo and fur-bearing trout went extinct. The last of the sasquatch were driven into hiding. Even the fearsome Canada geese – previously known for their grand, ancestral tree dens that would pass down through many generations – were forced to take up a nomadic lifestyle to evade the settlers' drone strikes. The groundhogs, though, refused to be so easily uprooted. With their superior knowledge of the land and extensive tunnel networks, the resilient chonkers proved to be formidable adversaries. After many months of staggering losses, the autumn cold finally granted the colonists a reprieve from the tiny guerilla fighters' assaults. With the groundhogs burrowed deep for hibernation, battlements were erected, napalm produced, and child soldiers trained. Still, the squishy primates were no match for the steadfast rodents, and streams near and far ran red with the blood of the settlers until winter came once again. Realizing the war to be a fool's errand, they looked to history's greatest minds for an answer and, inspired by Plato's Allegory of the Cave, conceived of a plan. When the frigid temperatures began to wane and the chonks began to stir, the colonists stationed themselves at the entrances to the burrows, armed with silhouettes of the scariest figures one could image – roaring lions, charging bulls, that guy from Courage the Cowardly Dog that chants "ReTuRn ThE sLaB". Miraculously, their plan worked like a charm. The wee chonks emerged from their slumber, spied the shadows cast by the silhouettes, and instinct took over, sending them scurrying back to safety. Mounting their sp00ky creations on stakes continued this effect indefinitely, and every Groundhog Day the colonists would head to the woods to maintain their sole defence against the fury of the chonkers. With time, though, stories of this war turned to legend, then legend to myth, and upkeep of the silhouettes waned with each passing season. Eventually, the harsh Canadian elements degraded the silhouettes enough for the portly rodents to feel comfortable leaving their subterranean abodes. By this time, their own accounts of the war had been mostly lost to time, too. Since humans no longer had any need to hunt the poor creatures, the aggression between the two factions had no cause to resurface. Homo sapiens and chonkus canadianus have shared the Carleton grounds and surrounding green space ever since, with our current Groundhog Day traditions carrying on as the only remaining echo of what transpired so long ago – a mere glimpse at our tumultuous and bloody past.

Alex "Sleigh-Z Boi" Barnett-Sheldon
- MECH VII -

COLUMNS

Got (VP Student) Issues? Well here's some tissues.

a Significant Other ...AS AN ENGINEER(ING STUDENT)

Nikita Yovchev
- BIOMED ELEC III -

Now I understand that at this point Valentine's Day will have passed, but as an engineering student, Valentine's Day isn't the most important day of love. Truly, the most romantic month is National Engineering Month (NEM) which happens to be in March. This means you're still in luck, because I will be giving you some swell advice to help you get a significant other, no matter your sexual/romantic orientation (unless you're both aromantic and asexual, in which case do whatever you want with this advice I guess? Maybe it will still come in handy somehow).

The most important thing to remember are the 5 S's of Romance. I will be listing them below in order of importance.

SAUCE

No matter who you are, the most important thing that will help you get a partner is your sauce game. Can you make a good sauce? Ask yourself this question. As a woman, I can say that I definitely do not like eating bland pasta, so a partner who can make a good sauce is a must. Take some time to refine your sauce skills, as it will become important later on in life.

SEDUCTION

The second most important thing to remember is your seduction skills. You wanna go from a scout to a spy. This may mean that you have to ditch the brooklyn accent for something a bit more French, and start wearing a suit. And as always, the mask stays on during sex. Once you have the art of seduction down, you can go anywhere in life.

SWAG

Swag can be broken down into a few different things. You got your style, your walk, and your talk.

For style, you wanna make sure that you wear bright colors to attract incoming mates, just like peacocks do. As engineering students, we need to adapt and overcome, but also as engineering students we are lazy and find efficient solutions. The peacocks already solved the problem, just follow in their footsteps.

For your walk, you wanna choose something that screams "aaaaa" "you". That's mainly up to you to decide, I went with a light skipping.

Finally, you need to master your talk. This goes hand-in-hand with S #2, as your talking will most likely seal the deal with your mate. The worst mistake I often see is engineering students trying to impress other engineering students with engineering talk. This may work on non-engineers, but we know better. We listen to this sh*t everyday in class and the last thing we wanna hear on our night off is more engineering principles. Try talking about something foreign, like sports or a hobby instead. Throw in a little star wars, but not too much or you'll start an argument (or worse, attract other engineering students. That's just more competition to deal with).

STANKY LEG

Self explanatory. Why would you date someone with a horrible stanky leg? If they can't buss it down on the dance floor, that's a no-no. Make sure you practice your stanky leg before the next FSK, so that you can show off your skills.

SIMPING

Last but not least, we must remember that simping is not all bad. You need to simp a lil' bit if you're gonna have a lasting relationship with someone. Get them some hot choccy on a cold day at Leo's. Hold the door for them. Buy them an airhead. You may look like a simp to some, but to the person you're tryna get with, you'll look like a true respectable m'gentleman.

So remember these 5 S's: Sauce, Seduction, Swag, Stanky Leg, and Simping. They may save your life one day at a party, when you see a cutie across the room. Above all else, don't forget to be yourself <3 (with minor adjustments as needed, this varies on a case-by-case basis).

COLUMNS

Hexagons are fun

OOH, LOOK! A PUZZLE!
 FUCKIN' EVERYBODY LOVES PUZZLES.

Can YOU find all these?

- FLIGHTSUIT
- IRONTIMES
- GONGSHOW
- CENGC
- LETTUCECLUB
- PATCHES
- ENGFROSH
- MINTO
- CMAS
- CSCC
- CUBES
- DESOC
- IEEE
- SCESOC
- SCEMAS
- LEOS
- CSES

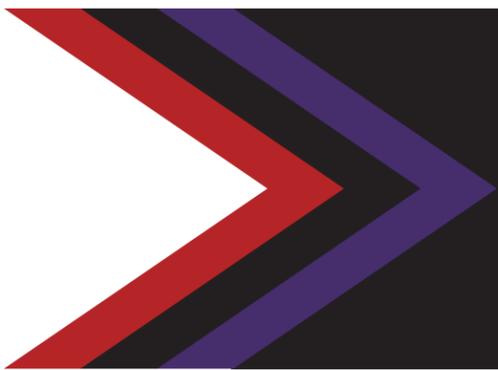

Monica Paul
 - AERO I -

Or play online!
[thewordsearch.com/
 puzzle/3281766](http://thewordsearch.com/puzzle/3281766)

This baby looks like he should be coaching boxing in the 70s

COLUMNS

God, I love the taste of cocktails.

DADDY'S DELICIOUS COCKTAILS

DON'T BE A BASIC BITCH DRINKING GREEN BEER ON ST. PADDY'S DAY - MAKE A GREEN WHISKY SOUR INSTEAD!

Shamrock Sour

Ingredients:

- 2½ oz. Irish whisky
- 1 oz. Lemon juice
- ½ oz. Egg white (or aquafaba)
- ½ oz. Simple syrup
- 1 drop Green food dye

I.E. SUGAR AND WATER, HEATED TO MAKE A SYRUP. BONUS POINTS FOR BROWN SUGAR!

Directions:

- SHAKE ingredients with ice
- SHAKE again, no ice
- STRAIN into chilled glass
- GARNISH with lemon slice

Shrunken Skull

Ingredients:

- 2 oz. Gold and/or dark rum
- 1 oz. Grenadine
- 1 oz. Lime juice

Directions:

- SHAKE with ice
- POUR into a fun glass
- GARNISH with pineapple fronds

REALLY PAYS TO MAKE YOUR OWN GRENADINE HERE. IT'S A BIG PART OF THE DRINK, SO THE RED CORN SYRUP CRAP IS LESS THAN IDEAL. IT'S SUPER EASY, THOUGH, AND SO WORTH IT. JUST POMEGRANATE JUICE AND SUGAR, BASICALLY.

I KNOW IT'S PASSED, BUT THIS IS PERFECT FOR VALENTINE'S DAY. WHY? BECAUSE IT'S RED, IDK. TREAT YOUR SWEETIE TO A DELICIOUS FRUIT-PUNCH-ESQUE COCKTAIL. OR TREAT YOURSELF, IF YOU DON'T HAVE A SWEETIE. YOU DESERVE A LITTLE PAMPERING.

COLUMNS

If you think you don't like vodka, try Russian Standard.

Caucasian

Ingredients:

- 2 oz. Vodka
- 1 oz. Coffee liqueur
- 1 oz. Cream

Directions:

- STIR vodka and liqueur with ice
- FLOAT aerated cream on top

YOU CAN AERATE THE CREAM BY SHAKING IT IN A WATER BOTTLE. PUTTING A SMALL WHISK OR SPRING INSIDE HELPS, TOO. YOU DON'T WANT IT WHIPPED - JUST THICKENED SLIGHTLY SO IT FLOATS. OR JUST MIX INTO THE DRINK LIKE A FUCKING BARBARIAN.

Alex "sleigh-2 Boi"
Barnett-Sheldon
- MECH VII -

IT'S WEDNESDAY SOMEWHERE, MY DUDES. JUST LIKE THE DOMINICANA FROM THE LAST ISSUE, BUT QUICKER. YOU MIX IT IN THE GLASS, THE INGREDIENTS ARE CHEAP, AND IT'S TASTY AS FUCK. SKIP THE CREAM AND IT'S THE EVEN QUICKER, EASIER, AND CHEAPER BLACK RUSSIAN - NO FUCKIN' EXCUSES NOT TO TRY IT.

YEAH, SO IT'S NOT SPRING YET. SUE ME. BLAME THAT ONE GROUNDHOG THAT DIED. ANYWAY THIS ONE'S BASICALLY RASPBERRY LEMONADE WITH BOOZE - A YUMMY, FRESH SIPPER TO WELCOME THE WARM WEATHER. OR TO ENJOY IN YOUR TRACTOR AS YOU PULL ABANDONED TANKS FROM THE MUD.

Ukrainian Spring Punch

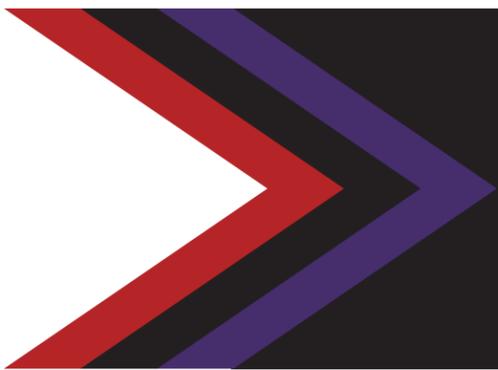

Ingredients:

- 1½ oz. Vodka
- ½ oz. Berry liqueur
- 7ish Raspberries
- ¾ oz. Lemon juice
- ¼ oz. Simple syrup
- 2 oz. Champagne

Directions:

- SHAKE all but the bubbly
- STRAIN into glass, over ice
- TOP with bubbly

THIS IS JUST A ROUGH GUIDE. TWEAK THE INGREDIENTS AS YOU LIKE. MAKE IT SWEETER, STRONGER, MORE LEMON, DITCH THE BUBBLY IF YOU WANT - WHATEVER TICKLES YOUR FANCY.

COLUMNS

Once again out here, smokin' these meats.

Shitty Advice

Q.

What are the best questions to ask your potential employer in an interview?

-Nadiya "Zuckerberg" Scratchley

A.

1. How frequent is drug testing?
2. Can I have an office?
3. Can I make meth in the staff kitchen? No? What about my office?

Q.

The snow was high the other day and I had to use the snowblower but now my arms hurt. How do I effectively and efficiently laugh at the people who do not have a snowblower and instead had to shovel?

- Ethan "Steve" Bradley

A.

Here's a solution: Eat Shit. Go snowblow Nikita's backyard.

Q.

What do I do with all the excess snow in my backyard?

- Nikita Yovchev

A.

Pour it on my driveway. This is not a joke, Zach needs enrichment.

Q.

My friends keep buying me increasingly inappropriate shirts. The most recent is in my ceng speaks picture. What's your worst shirt idea so I can get them back?

- Sydney Doucet

A.

This is not a problem idk why you want advice. Anyway put your mark zucc boob edits on a shirt and give them to your friends.

Q.

To Whomst It May Concern,

Since we last spoke, my conundrum seemingly resolved itself rather well. I took your advice to "Fuck her Dad" to mean she was affected by the father of demons, Satan himself, and to expel his influence from our household. The harlot was thusly burned at the stake and my eyes ceased wandering. That is, until I happened upon the new blacksmith's apprentice. He was by the river, washing up at twilight...unattired. As soon as I realized his state of undress, I averted my gaze and hurried home post haste, but even now I find myself drawn to the blacksmith's hut, hoping to catch another glimpse of that huge...throbbing...deltoid muscle. I imagine wrapping myself around his girthy thighs as if they were the trunk of the old oak tree I used to climb as a child. But I am betrothed to a young girl from a noble house and by all accounts I should desire her – how could I not, what with her massive...tracts of land. I should do right by her and think of this boy no longer, but I simply cannot. The way he pounds his hammer...I envy the anvil. Please help me rid my mind of these invasive, perverted thoughts before I give in to temptation and fornicate with this commoner.

Regards,

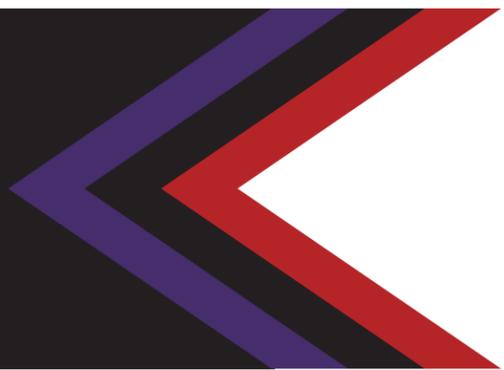

Lord Sal A. Zebois

A.

Fear not! For I have the salvation to your plight. When in desperate times I like to remember this: A hole is a hole and there's no way god can be watching you all the time. If he is, it's his problem now.

COLUMNS

Is that why Rose threw her necklace into the sea?

Q.

How do I convince my mom to get rid of the hundreds of empty boxes and useless garbage that she keeps in the basement?

- Anonymous

A.

Idk about the useless garbage, but you should definitely make the boxes into a little house and move into it.

Q.

How are we going to solve the housing crisis?

- Willem Smulders

A.

If enough people just start living in all the empty houses what are they gonna do? Then when the law is busy not knowing what to do about the people in the previously unoccupied houses, stop paying for the house you're currently paying for! Easy peasy :)

Q.

how do i get my dear beloved partner to stop dropping their phone on my face :(

- Zahira "Eat Your Words" Bakr

A.

IM SORRY

Q.

I have separation anxiety from my necklace how should I cope?

- Alexandria MacDonald

A.

Glue it to yourself and it won't get lost. Or do exposure therapy and throw it into the sea. Either works.

Q.

What should I do for valentine's day for my girlfriend? <3

- Jake Birkness

A.

Propose. Bonus points if it's in public.

Q.

I have run out of ways to entertain my cats. I need new funky, whacky, and wild ways. Plzzzz helpppp...

- Cornelius Liburd

A.

Consider a wall of salami, as a feast. Or if you want a cheaper option, try teaching them how to read. Just please don't subject them to the hell that is email.

Q.

I'm literally at the end of my university career and feel more lost than when I was in first year, any advice, from the wise one?

- Anonymous

A.

Hi! That sounds terrifying and I genuinely have not taken the time to picture myself in that position! However, for you, I will think about it. My best idea is to apply for jobs you're wildly unqualified for and see how long it takes for someone to realise you're just guessing at everything. Also, use your mom as a reference, I've heard employers are wild about that. Genuinely though, if you've made it through university I think you'll kick ass at whatever you choose to do. Godspeed gamer :)

Brought to you by:

Anna Bramble

Environmental Studies I

Columns

Directed, Written,
Starring and Featuring

LIAMM MIRZA

Aero D - III

I am but a simple caterpillar.

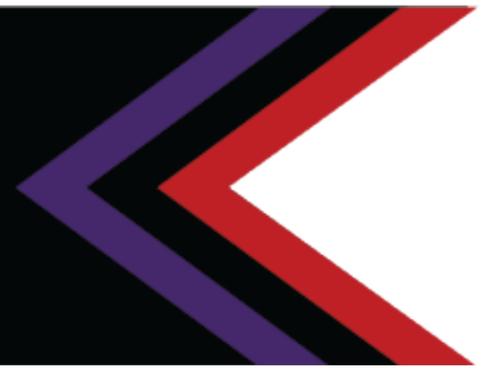

I walk slowly through the barren wasteland that once was human society, for it is the year 2287, and the humans have been destroyed by none other than their own hubris. I feel the grass below my tiny little caterpillar feet. Oh wait, that's not grass, that's the unfettered remains of a culture built on plastic and anti-environmentally friendly material production.

Anyways, I proceed to walk towards my inevitable destination- a plant. Because I'm hungry. And caterpillars eat plants. I think. This is very exciting, once I reach this plant, I can create a cocoon and then one day soon I'll be a butterfly! I'll be able to fly around and I'll be so beautiful!

Columns

I approach the plant, but something seems wrong, the plant isn't what I expected, it's not green, no, in fact, it's a pale red. I reach the base of the red plant, and look up at it. It's rounder than I expected. There's a sinking feeling in my heart as I begin to realize the truth, but I suppress it, because all that matters is the butterfly I will soon be! Oh my goodness this is exciting, I will soon be able to soar above the ground and explore the sky!

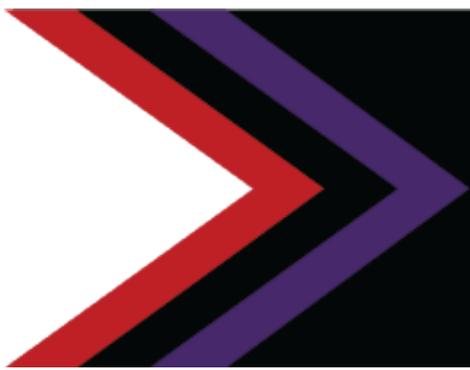

I climb the plant. With every step, my excitement grows, and soon I approach the first leaf. As I get closer to the leaf, I have to take a break for a second, for I'm awfully tired. Almost as if I'd been asleep for a while, and just woke up. I shake off the feeling, replace it with more excitement, and continue on my journey. I walk up the plant and continue to get closer to the leaf. That's weird, I can't seem to reach the leaf, oh well, I guess I'll just keep climbing the plant. Wait, I'm back on the ground now- almost like this plant was a sphere, almost like it was- not a plant at all.

adulthood is like looking both ways before you cross the street and then getting hit by an airplane

The sinking feeling comes back, I must ignore it, I must suppress the knowledge I have, I must continue towards becoming a butterfly.

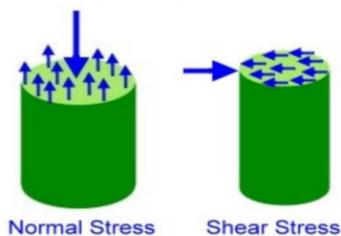

I walk towards the next plant. I get to the plant and the same thing happens again, but it's okay, the next plant will have a leaf! I walk to the next plant, and once again, I end up back on the ground. I know I must acknowledge it, this cannot continue, not forever. So I stop walking, and I take a moment to think, to really think. In this single moment, I see the world for what it truly is. It's not the year 2287, not anymore, it hasn't been that year for a long, long time. I have been asleep, and the plants I was so excited to find were just particles of dust, on a barren world. And that brings me to the final realization, the true piece of knowledge I have lived in fear of for so long- I am not a caterpillar. I am small, very small, and I have slept and lived for a thousand caterpillar life times. I am a being destined to survive anything by the curse of evolutionary perfection-

Columns

Difference between Normal Stress & Shear Stress

Zachary Meunier
Aero B - III

White Person Culture

What comes to mind when you think of white person culture? A historical disregard for persons and property? Spiceless, tasteless food? A natural propensity for sunburns?

Rethink that. What is a truly quintessential white activity? golfing.

This is only partially an autobiography.

If you had to think of an ideal Saturday afternoon, what would it look like? A calm breeze blowing across your face, the sun kissing your cheeks. You get in some moderate physical activity, but nothing too demanding. You enjoy acres of warm, green grass and rolling hills. All this can be experienced in a round of golf. Rather than a brisk walk in the park, why don't you fork over an arm and a leg to hit six balls into a man-made pond on the 16th tee? Not sold yet? Golf has been a favourite pastime of many for centuries. It originated in the 16th century, when people would hit pebbles over sand dunes with bent clubs. People loved it so much that King Louis had to ban it, since folks were foregoing their military training to go pelt some balls over the creek. It began officially in 1744, when Scots would compete for a dozen shiny spoons. It has since grown into a global sport, with millions of fans across the globe. Okay, nobody is reading this anymore, I mean really, why would they, I wouldn't read it either, pls send a voice recording to the editor in chiefs with your best Tusken Raider impression.

A popular course is the Old Course at St. Andrews, a crummy plot of land with a rich history.

Sometimes you want to curl up with a good book. Other times you're feeling a nice movie and some popcorn. More frequently still do you curl on the floor, stare at the ceiling, and contemplate every mistake you've made. Golf starting to sound good now?

I mean really. Have you never wanted to swing a metal rod at terminal velocity to strike a testicle-sized orb and launch it uncontrollably into a maple tree? (unintentionally of course) When you're in a good mood, golf gives you a nice, relaxing atmosphere to forge a deeper spiritual connection with yourself and the Earth. When you're playing like shit, golf gives you a solid excuse to wack something as hard as you can and commit war crimes on the local ant population while avoiding a felony conviction. Now watch this drive.

COLUMNS

CIVILS CAN FUCK ALL THE CONCRETE THEY WANT BUT CONC WILL NEVER BEAT PLANE!

SOME CONCRETE PROOF THAT YOU LITERALLY CAN'T TRUSS CIVILS WITH ANYTHING

Constructions workers on their lunch break watching me eat all of their wet cement

Yaboi Tatty "Air Support" G.
- CIVIL II -

Sup dudes and dudettes, it's your friendly neighborhood Concrete Eater coming to you live from the middle of fucking nowhere to do you a quick learn.

'Hear ye me, as I lay down a list of 10 cool rock names along with some thoughts on them... Some of these are probably rocks that I would most definitely consider trying at least once, but many I would not attempt tasting.

(P.S. This actually may be more or less than 10. Civil's can't count past 5, don't flame.)

1. Salt.

Startin 'er off nice and classy. Good old NaCl, likely the favourite rock of most of you non-civil's. It tastes freakin good, and goes well with literally almost anything... Not much else to say here.

Pretty standard and vanilla as far as rocks go, but boy let me tell ya, this trainwreck of a column goes downhill fast from here.

2. Bath Salts.

The younger and undeniably more messed up cousin of classic table salt. Probably doesn't taste good, probably doesn't pair well with most foods, and probably isn't all that healthy to consume. 1/10, likely would not try this rock.

3. Crack Rocks.

Slightly less classy, but still equally freakin bougie. Some may say "Crack is Wack", but like... Hey, at least it's not bath salts, right?!

Probably still wouldn't lick; I'd give crack rocks a solid 3 "Rob Ford"'s out of 10 "Robert Downey Jr. in the 90s"'s

4. Rock Candy.

Now THIS is a rock that I fuck with. Great taste, high sugar content, not hallucinogenic in the slightest. 10/10 would eat. Freakin chef's kiss emoji.

5. Sand.

I don't like sand. It's coarse, and rough, and irritating... And it gets everywhere.

6.5 / 10 on IMDb, and I still think that's pretty generous.

6. Fornacite.

FornacIte? More like FornacAte, amiright? Lmao.

7. Cumingtonite.

*Me when I Your Mom
Me when I when your mom, I
Your Mom when I me*
- A Haiku by Teytum George.

8. Goosecreekite.

Holy hell, there's a goose rock. Rally the troops and let Xavier know that it's time for him to switch out of Mech and into Civil. Based rock, 10/10

COLUMNS

DWAYE "THE CROC" JOHNSON! GUYS DON'T BLAME ME IT'S 2:00AM HERE

9. Moolooite.

Rock have funny name. All of these mineral names are real though, fr look it up.

Source: Trust me bro

10. Dickite.

This is actually a real mineral, I swear. To keep this article short and sweet I won't go into too much detail here, but if you want to learn more about this rock type, it's abbreviated name is just "Dick", so you can find pictures and info about it online by searching "Dick Images" on your family computer's web browser and going to the "images" tab.

11. Arsenolite.

hee hee hoo hoo haa haa

12. Analcime.

There's no way they didn't know exactly what they were doing when they named some of these lmao.

13. Led Zeppelin.

I understand this is a different kind of rock (music, not minerals), but man this is just such a terrible idea. Have you ever picked up a chunk of lead? Seriously, it's actually kind of heavy... Making one of those freakin Hydrogen-filled accidents waiting to happen that blimps are is a terrible idea to begin with (See The Hindenburg), but what's more now you want to make the whole thing out of a material with a molar mass of 11.342 grams per cubic centimeter? Fuck off! I say it'll never fly, it's just too heavy. According to all known laws of aviation.....

Fukalite?

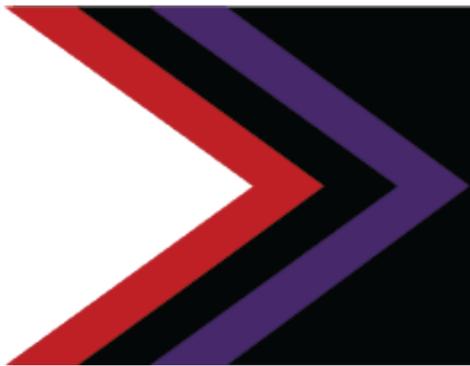

FUCK YA LIFE!

BING BONG!

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pzh7Ls14Zi8>

BING BONG THAT WITCH IS DEAD

COMMUNITY

Dang thats alot of responses

God, what happened to you last month?

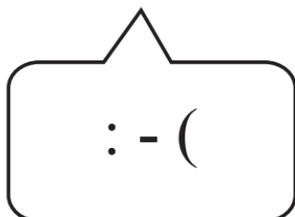

Nadiya Scratchely
AERO III

alot of pain

i forgor

Nikita Yovchev
BIOMED III

Xavier
Nuclear the World I

Max Ingleton
IMD III

You know this question can be interpreted as you asking what happened to god last month and to that, I really don't know the answer

Ethan Bradley
COMPSYS III

I ate a lot of food and just didn't go outside to get rid of the ridiculous amount of mass that it added to me

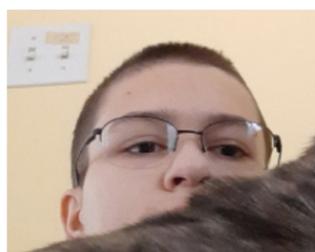

Mya Binns
BIO III

Idk man, all I remember was saying "this edible ain't shit" and then woke up in your mom's bed

I passed my exams and started to see the light at the end of the tunnel

fuck if i know

Anna Bramble
ENVIRO STUD I

Lazar Milojevic
SOFT 5

i found the 3$ espresso from italy. i dont remember the rest

Willem Smulders
AERO III

COMMUNITY

I wish all the Honkers a very pleasant Fuck Off

Robin Feeney
ELEC II

didn't sleep for days because of never ending honking

Sydney Doucet
AERO II

I broke a necklace i hadnt taken off in 3 years (cries in separation anxiety)

Too much

Alex Banett-Sheldon
MECH INFINITY

I normally go by "The Almighty" but God works, too. I was napping.

Zahira Bakir
SOFT III

;-;

mighty machines dub from frost week film fest

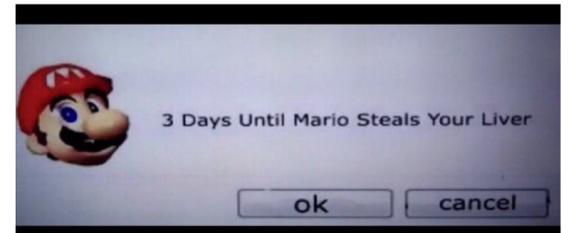

Taytum George
CIVE uhhhhhhh

I don't even remember what I had for breakfast, let alone what happened more than a day ago... I probably literally just teleported here from September. Where the did the year go, zamn

Alexandra Macdonald
SREE II

Emily Barnes
SREE IV

Cornelius Liburd
AERO V

I got frostbite, and I started an instagram account for my cats (@lifeofcrocandkuzco)

What is the best superstition?

Kahini Doat
MECH IV

I will take a quick break by writing for the engspeaks as I stare at my screen at the same lecture slide for hours

Jake Birkness
AERO II

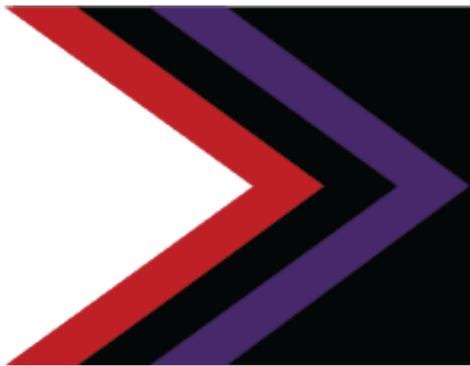

Never say the word "shootout" before the end of a hockey game

If you eat 3 tacos at 3pm on a tuesday, it will bring you good luck for the rest of the week

If there a crab crosses your path, you have run out of good luck, because it was stolen by the crab

COMMUNITY

Tough time never last - Tough people last

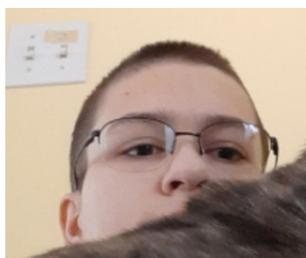

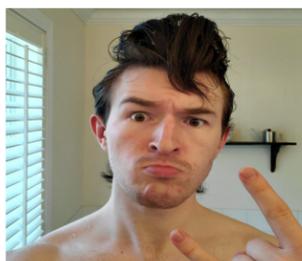

I mean, I'm not superstitious... I am a little bit stitious though

Idk abt best, but i love playing with scissors, its not bad luck so long as they dont whack u in the face

if you etransfer me $100 i will appear in front of you and grant your wishes three if you cheers with water you're wishing death upon the people you're with or something like that

A Quebec wives' tale says that if a pregnant woman craves fish and doesn't get that crispy fillet o' fish post haste, the baby will be born with gills and a fish head. Like an anti-mermaid.

My family has this superstition that on your birthday, you can make the first cut into your birthday cake but you aren't allowed to pull it out yourself. If you do, it's a year of bad luck.

They fucking banned Yo-yo's in Syria back in 1933 because it was believed that they cause drought.

That black cats are unlucky - means that ther are more cats for me I guess

Superposition by King Gizzard and the Lizard Wizard

In russia, whistling indoors means you'll be broke

Give us any advice you have for first years feeling down on their luck

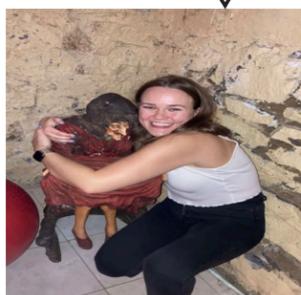

dont sweat it kid, no one else knows what theyre doing too 3>

It's all good homies... failed a course? take it again! midterms are stressful? still remember to sleep! wish we weren't still in a panini? me too!!!!

life is tough but you're tougher!

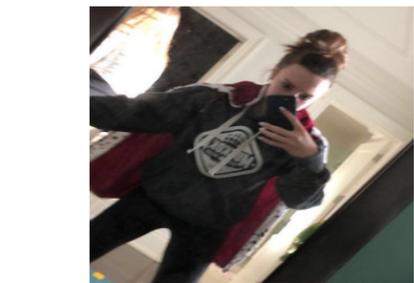

Lay down on the floor for a few minutes a day

COMMUNITY

Go follow Corn's Cat's Instagram @lifeofcrocandkuzco

Don't worry. This is only the worst time of your life so far. I kid - it only gets better! Ask for help if you need it. Engineering is a family - we're all in this together <3.

carry something long and hard in your pockets at all times for good luck

u can fail all ur midterms and still pass (at least it worked las semester)

"1. Don't skip class.
2. Upon failing to complete ""1."" , start going to class as of today. Time is running out, you need to start catching up soon if you want to pass your exams.
3. Upon failing both ""1."" and ""2."" , watch everything within the week before your exams and hate yourself for it, promise yourself that you'll never do this again, and then probably rinse and repeat for next semester when you'll inevitably do the exact same thing again."

View every day as an opportunity

Take a deep breath, and break that big tasks down into small easily achievable steps. It will get better! If you need a boost of serotonin, follow @lifeofcrocandkuzco on instagram.

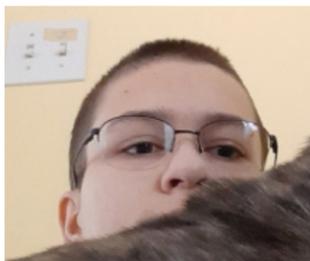

It is not always 'the harder you work, the luckier you get', please schedule in those rest times

"Go to lectures. Do not skip lectures. Even if you sleep through lectures go to them. Skipping lectures is addicting and will ruin your life."

sometimes you gotta go outside and lie in the snow for a little bit

Don't be sus and believe your impostor syndrome, you're doing fantastic! University is hard sometimes but keep your head up and do your tasks!

Masochism. Really get into it. Soon the despair, stress, and anxiety that you've been bottling up will turn your negative energy into horny energy.

One time in first year I pulled an all nighter for an assignment while listening to Shia LaBeouf's "Just Do It" on a loop... Don't do that imo winter semester is usually better than fall semester no matter what year you're in, so if fall sucked for you, don't let it get to you too much

If you're in any aerospace that's not C, switch to C and thank me later.

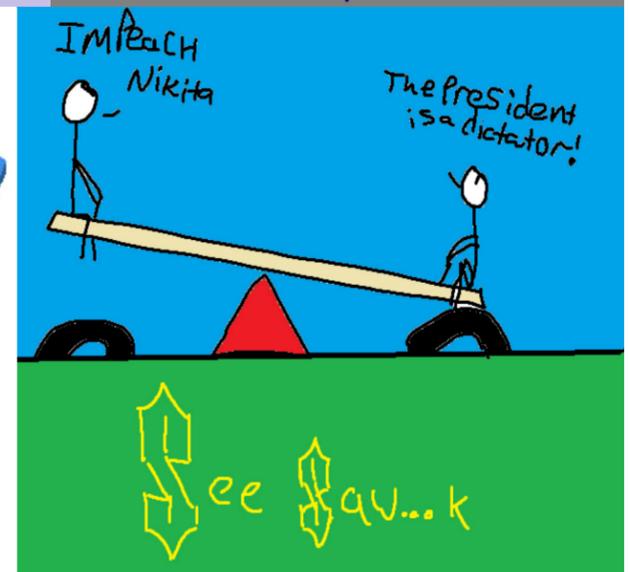

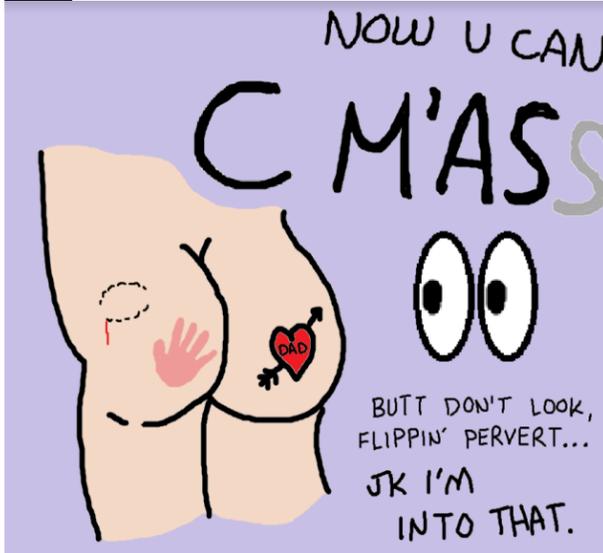

NEW LOGOS

EVERYONE KNOWS THE CURRENT LOGOS SUCK BUTT

eam davis is a better president than nikita

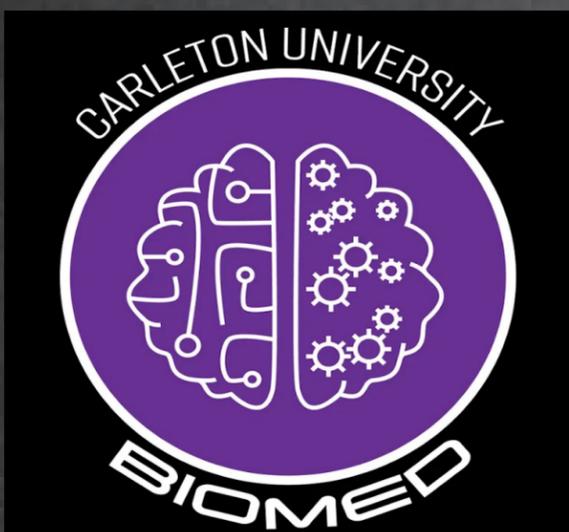

NIKITA, YOU SEEM LIKE YOU HAVE IT ROUGH. LEMME BUY YOU A MUFFIN.

Societies

Society churns out slaves and blanks, no thanks!

SOCIETY!
#JDEEP

The Carleton University Biomedical Engineering Society (CUBES) is a student-run organization that aims to support biomedical engineering students and connect them to the Carleton engineering community. In addition to providing professional development and networking opportunities, CUBES hosts a variety of social and academic events, including study sessions, hospital tours, and the annual purple-lab coat barbecue. Whether you're looking to meet students in your stream, learn about biomedical engineering advancements, or get some studying tips, CUBES is the society for you!

Fun Fact:

Biomedical & electrical engineering as well as biomedical & mechanical engineering programs were first introduced at Carleton in 2006 & 2007, respectively. Now, our society is united, and we secretly like relating all our event titles to cube puns.

Event to get hyped for:

There are a couple:

1. Ice CUBES canal skating night is during reading week.
2. Purple Lab coat dyeing! Usually when there is no pandemic going on, we host a purple lab coat tie-dyeing barbecue annually!

A top-secret document was leaked containing your society's deep dark secret. Please release a statement concerning it.

Long ago, we over-ordered mugs, and now have an entire large metal wardrobe dedicated to said mugs. So, even if CUBES isn't your cup of tea, please, come buy a mug.

Societies

Make sure to make it out to these sick events

EWB seeks to bring people and ideas together. We work to identify and eradicate the root causes of poverty and inequality. We hold lots of guest speakers, design competitions, conferences, panels, and activities throughout the year. Join our Discord and ask an exec what they are working on!

Fun Fact:

We are the student representation for Fairtrade on campus. Reach out to us to explore more about Fairtrade!

Event to get hyped for:

Carleton International Development Symposium (CIDS) - An engaging day of speakers, panels, and activities touching on sustainable international development and individuals making strides in this cool field!

A top-secret document was leaked containing your society's deep dark secret. Please explain what this secret is and make a statement concerning it.

Presidential statement regarding the release of classified EWB information: "The files released recently are true. Engineers do in fact have borders. It has been our mission, for the last 40 years, to hunt and eliminate them. We long for a world where engineers are free to roam, without concern for physical boundaries. Together, we can crush the remaining borders."

Carleton University EngiQueers (CUE) is Carleton University's society for LGBTQ+ engineering students, although we welcome everyone! We run a mix of social and education events throughout the year, as well as promote inclusivity in the Faculty of Engineering and Design.

CUE wishes to act as a safe space for members of the LGBTQ+ community and allies, primarily in the Carleton Engineering community as well as to network, socialize and support one another.

Fun Fact:

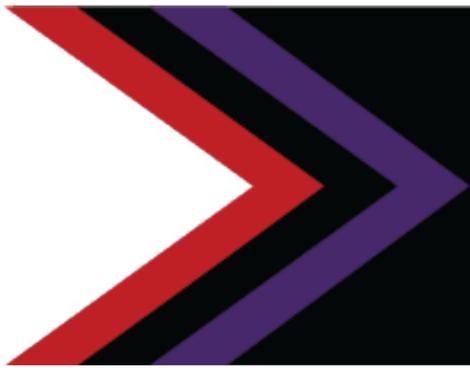

We have an official cat

Event to get hyped for:

CUEpids crush!

A top-secret document was leaked containing your society's deep dark secret. Please explain what this secret is and make a statement concerning it.

Concerning the leak of the document known as the Gay Agenda, we can neither confirm nor deny the Carleton University EngiQueers executive team is made up of cowboys.

COLUMNS

live calendar can be found at mycses.ca/calendar

CARLETON STUDENT ENGINEERING SOCIETY

/myCSES

@myCSES

@myCSES

myCSES.ca

MARCH

2022

SUNDAY

MONDAY

TUESDAY

WEDNESDAY

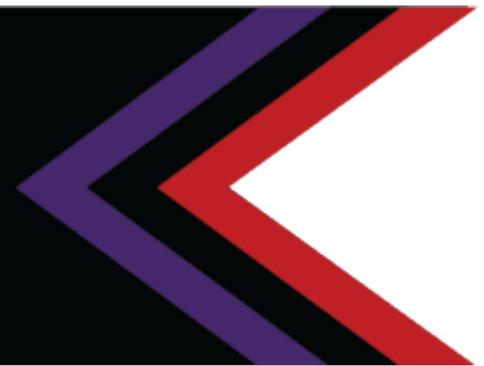

THURSDAY

FRIDAY

SATURDAY

27	28	1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
			ESSCO How to Make Your Own Patch		Nagui Appreciation Day
					CU Designathon
						Charity LAN
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
CU Designathon	CSCE Interview Workshop	CUE AGM	Hang out with ESSCO	SCESoc AGM
Charity LAN	SCESoc Project Showcase Night
27	28	29	30	31	1	2
CMAS Paper Airplane Competition	CSES AGM				Engineering Musical	Reflections
						Engineering Musical

COLUMNS

exams be upon ye

CARLETON STUDENT ENGINEERING SOCIETY

APRIL

2022

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16 First Year Eng Study Session #2
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
Exam Period
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
Exam Period

look at them all

CARLETON STUDENT ENGINEERING SOCIETY

3390 MACKENZIE BUILDING

 /myCSES
  @myCSES
  @myCSES
  myCSES.ca

WHAT IS CSES?

THE CARLETON STUDENT ENGINEERING SOCIETY HAS BEEN SERVING THE STUDENTS OF CARLETON ENGINEERING FOR MORE THAN 35 YEARS.

ITS GOAL IS TO PROVIDE ITS MEMBERS WITH ACADEMIC, PROFESSIONAL, AND SOCIAL RESOURCES TO HELP THEM MAKE THE MOST OF THEIR FOUR (OR MORE) YEARS AT CARLETON. IF YOU'RE AN UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT ENROLLED IN A STREAM OF ENGINEERING, YOU'RE A MEMBER OF CSES.

THIS SECTION OF THE IRON TIMES LET'S THE CURRENT EXECUTIVES OF CSES GIVE YOU UPDATES ON WHAT TO EXPECT FOR THE COMING MONTH.

President
Cameron Davis

It's March already? Wow. It's been a really eventful year for CSES and we hope that you guys have been proud of not only what our team has accomplished but also what this community has accomplished throughout the pandemic. Fingers crossed I will be seeing you all on campus very soon! My portfolio will be primarily focused on getting the new team ready for after their elections and finishing the strategic plan. If you ever want to ask questions about CSES or any other C-Eng topics feel free to reach out! Thanks for a great year!

VP Academic
Baillie Noell

Hey everyone!
First, I would like to give a huge shoutout to all of our teams who competed at OEC in January. We had some amazing results and I am so proud of everyone! An extra big congrats to our 2nd place Re-Eng team, and our 1st place Programming team who will be moving on to compete at CEC on March 11th-13th. I wish them the best of luck. Next, it's that time of year again... it's NEM! We have a full month of activities ahead of us, with a spotlight on our Women in STEM panel on March 22nd, hosted in conjunction with OSPE as part of the provincial NEM programming. I hope to see you there!

VP Finance
Maven Uyttewaal

Hey C-Eng!! I hope you have all had a really good year. It has been great being a part of CSES this year and I can't wait to see what the incoming Exec have to offer. Have a great summer and good luck on exams!! See most of you next year and to those graduating, congrats<3

VP Internal
Ryan Campbell

Welcome.
School's been a time huh? Well, we're almost there! Chin up, and let's get this W, this bread, and even the whole sandwich. From my end of the branch, we've got Pewter Mugs wrapping up (make sure you've picked yours up if you ordered one), the commencement of our Ring Day after party, our world-famous Annual General Meeting, and some other things in store! I hope you've all had a wonderful year so far, and if not, things will definitely pick up! See you later!

VP Services
Alex MacDonald

Happy March Everyone!
Doyouknowwhatmarchis? Sweaterseason! Perfect time to shed that jacket and wear a hoodie, a C-ENG Hoodie maybe. Orders for Sweaters are now OPEN. The CSES office is open again for all your Merch and Patch needs. Your stream reps have worked hard to bring you some sick Monke NFT patches (I didn't name them I swear) to rep your brand of Engineering and Design. Stop by in person, or order online while supplies last.

VP External
Davis Moore

That's a wrap! The ESSCO and CFES elections have come to an end. Thank you to this year's teams for the fantastic work and congratulations to next year's team for taking on these amazing roles. Still want to get involved? Keep an eye out for ESSCO commissioner applications, they will be released in May! Additionally, all conferences have passed too! Thank you to all of our delegates this year for representing Carleton, I hope you were able to learn lots! As for the rest of the year, best of luck to everyone on finals assignments and exams. Lastly, thanks to all of YOU for making my 2nd and last CSES Exec role an absolute blast, you are all amazing and I hope to see you around! ~Davis out~

VP Social
Nicholas Butler

Hey folks. With the year wrapping up, we are getting right into the busiest month of the year, March! Me and my directors have been working hard to bring you all the events you expect with Pi day coming up on the 14th, Charity LAN on the 19th and 20th, and Reflections coming up on April 2nd for all of our members! Voting for the Pi day cursed pie competition closes on March 13th and be sure to tune in to watch our Pi day director bake and consume the winning pie on Pi day at 6:00 PM! Tickets for Charity LAN will be on sale starting on the 14th for $5 online through the CSES store. My awesome formal events directors have arranged for three-course meals (Appetizer, Main, and Dessert) to be delivered to houses that sign up for reflections, Keep an eye out for more information in the next few days!

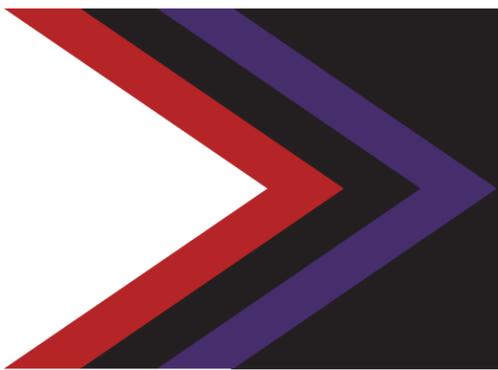

VP Publications
Nadiya Scratchley

Good day fellow C-Engers. The first episode of the Gong Show is out! If you haven't heard it yet, make sure to give it a listen. The theme song alone is worth millions. We will also be wrapping up the Iron Times for the year with this issue, but make sure to continue being creative, and consider going for the pubs position in the run-off elections!

VP Student Issues
Nikita Yovchev

The end of the year is coming and it's been such a pleasure to be a part of your CSES council! I'm looking forward to NEM events and to sending out my findings on non-tuition expenses for students, as well as continuing to support you guys through your exam season! Good luck, and here's to a great election season!

HOROSCOPES

It's okay Daniel I forgive you.

ARIES

THIS MONTH ON YOUR ACTUAL FUCKING LIFE: YOU FRACTURE YOUR ANKLE MID-FUCK AND HAVE TO GO TO THE EMERGENCY ROOM, YOUR ROOMATES STEAL YOUR FUCKING DOOR OFF IT'S HINGES AND HIDE IT FOR YOU TO FIND AND YOUR PROF LITERALLY CANNOT STOP CHANING THE ASSIGNMENT REQUIREMENTS EVERY 2 DAYS.

TAURUS

This is the month where you forget everything: You forgot to go to your STI testing appointment, your forgor to turn off the oven after your pizza was done for 17 FUCKING HOURS, and your forgot to remember to forget. BUt for once you DID NOT forget to WATER YOUR FUCKING BASIL PLANT THANK FUCK. IN FACT YOU ACTUALLY DOUBLE CHECKED JUST BEFORE READING THIS.

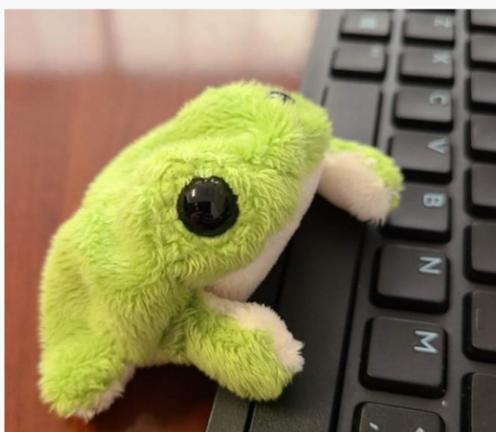

GEMINI

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=k7bQvM2-4BQ>

CANCER

LEO

This month OHH GOD OHH FUCK I FORGOT TO WRITE THE HOROSCOPES FUCK FUCK SHIT FUCK I'M SORRY NADIYA

VIRGO

This is the month you staple your assignment and pants to your leg while absentmindedly trying to collect some of your looseleaf notes. It is at this critical point you decide to start using an actual notebook for taking notes as the error of your ways is LITERALLY painfully obvious.

HOROSCOPES

You're the best Horoscope writer out there and genius takes time!

LIBRA

SCORPIO

This is the month that you realize your calculator has been in fucking GRADIANS instead of radians for fucking 2 MONTHS and THAT'S why you did so bad last semester. FUCK gradians ALL my homies HATE gradians.

SAGITTARIUS

This is the month that you do every kind of finishing except finishing your school work. Please god I am BEGGING you finish your school work please.

CAPRICORN

This is the month you decide that not only should copyright laws not exist for big companies but that they straight up shouldn't exist period because you found out your favorite YouTuber lost a bunch of money to UMG and because you want to see really interesting and gnarly Star Wars fan content.

AQUARIUS

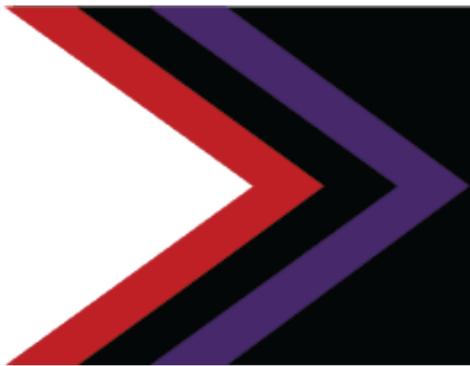

This is the month you get summoned to the FUCKING HOAGIE zone for judgement:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=sBCOvklXV8g>

PISCES

This is the month you just decide to cozymax and just be warm and nice the whole time. Including hot choccy with milk, the fucking hoodie blanket thing that I forget the name of, and also using 2 blankets and a plush robe :)

MEMES

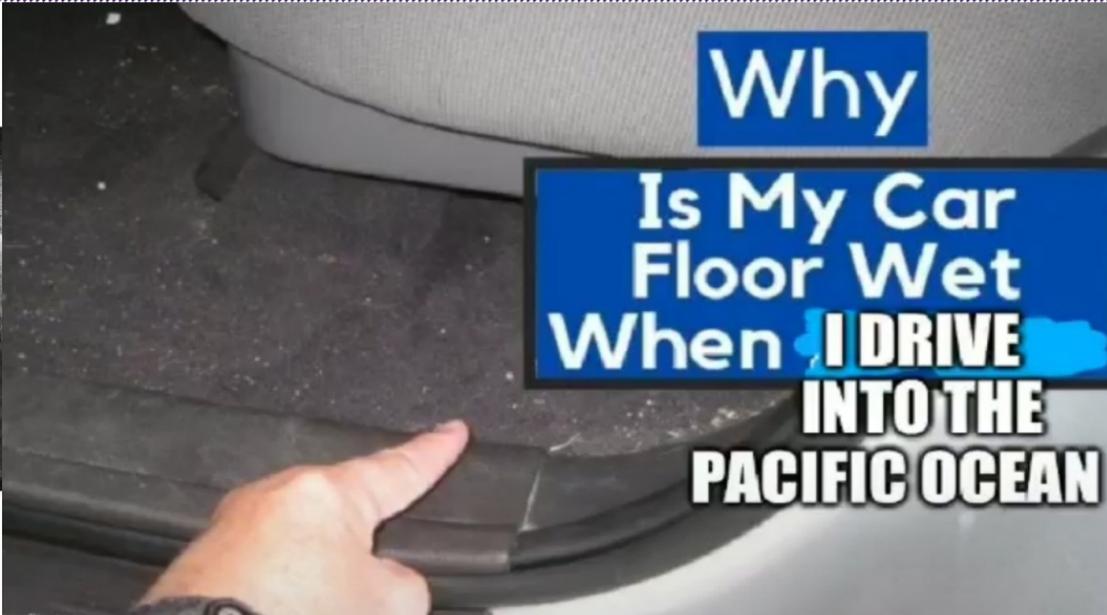

I am doing this in a car

INSIDE YOU THERE ARE TWO WOLVES

one snores like "honk shoo honk shoo."

the other snores like "hooooonk mi mi mi"

Peter I told you

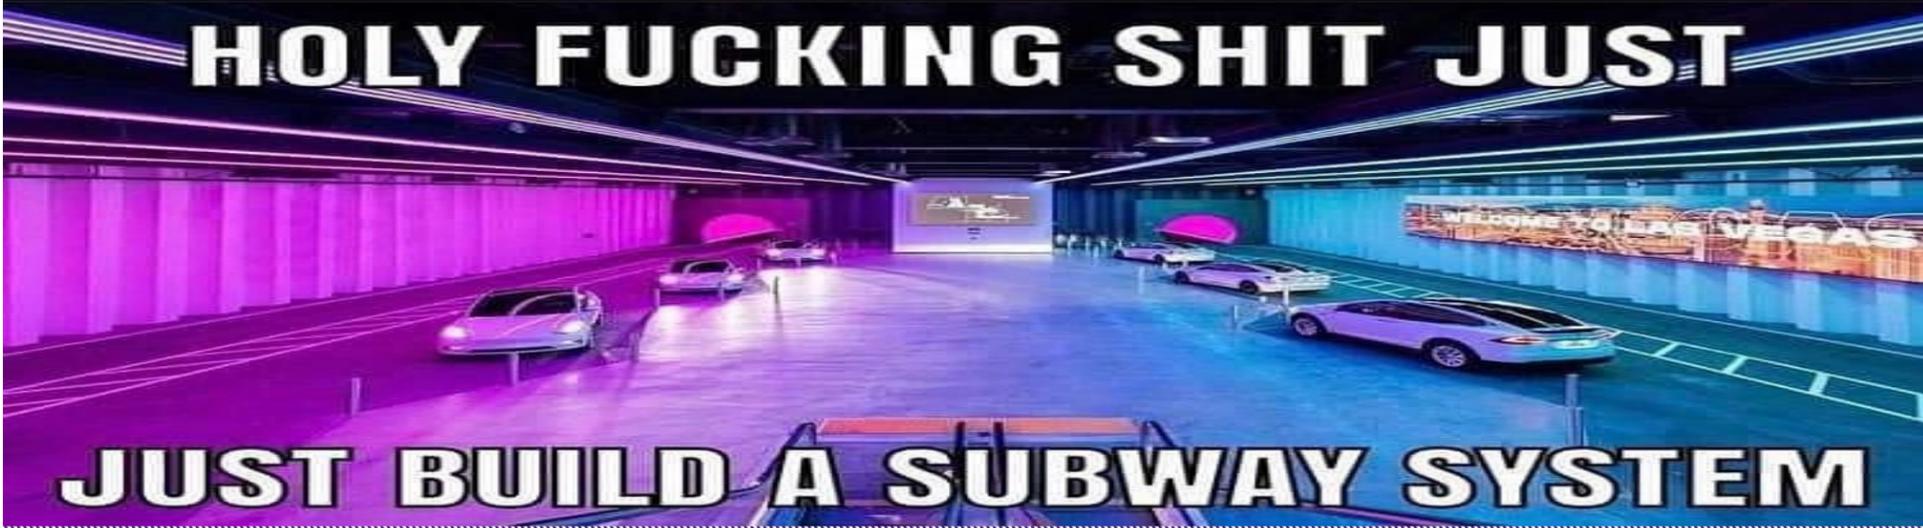

OTTAWA Ghost of Pierre Elliott Trudeau urges Justin to "say the line"

DANIEL At the bus stop

HOLY FUCKING SHIT JUST

JUST BUILD A SUBWAY SYSTEM

humorous

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XKuhv9OKN4I&t=4s>

The us government staring at the wings on the table

US NATIONAL DEBT
$30,006,111,129,491

YOU'VE JUST BEEN

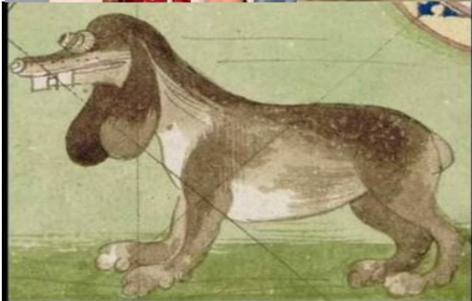

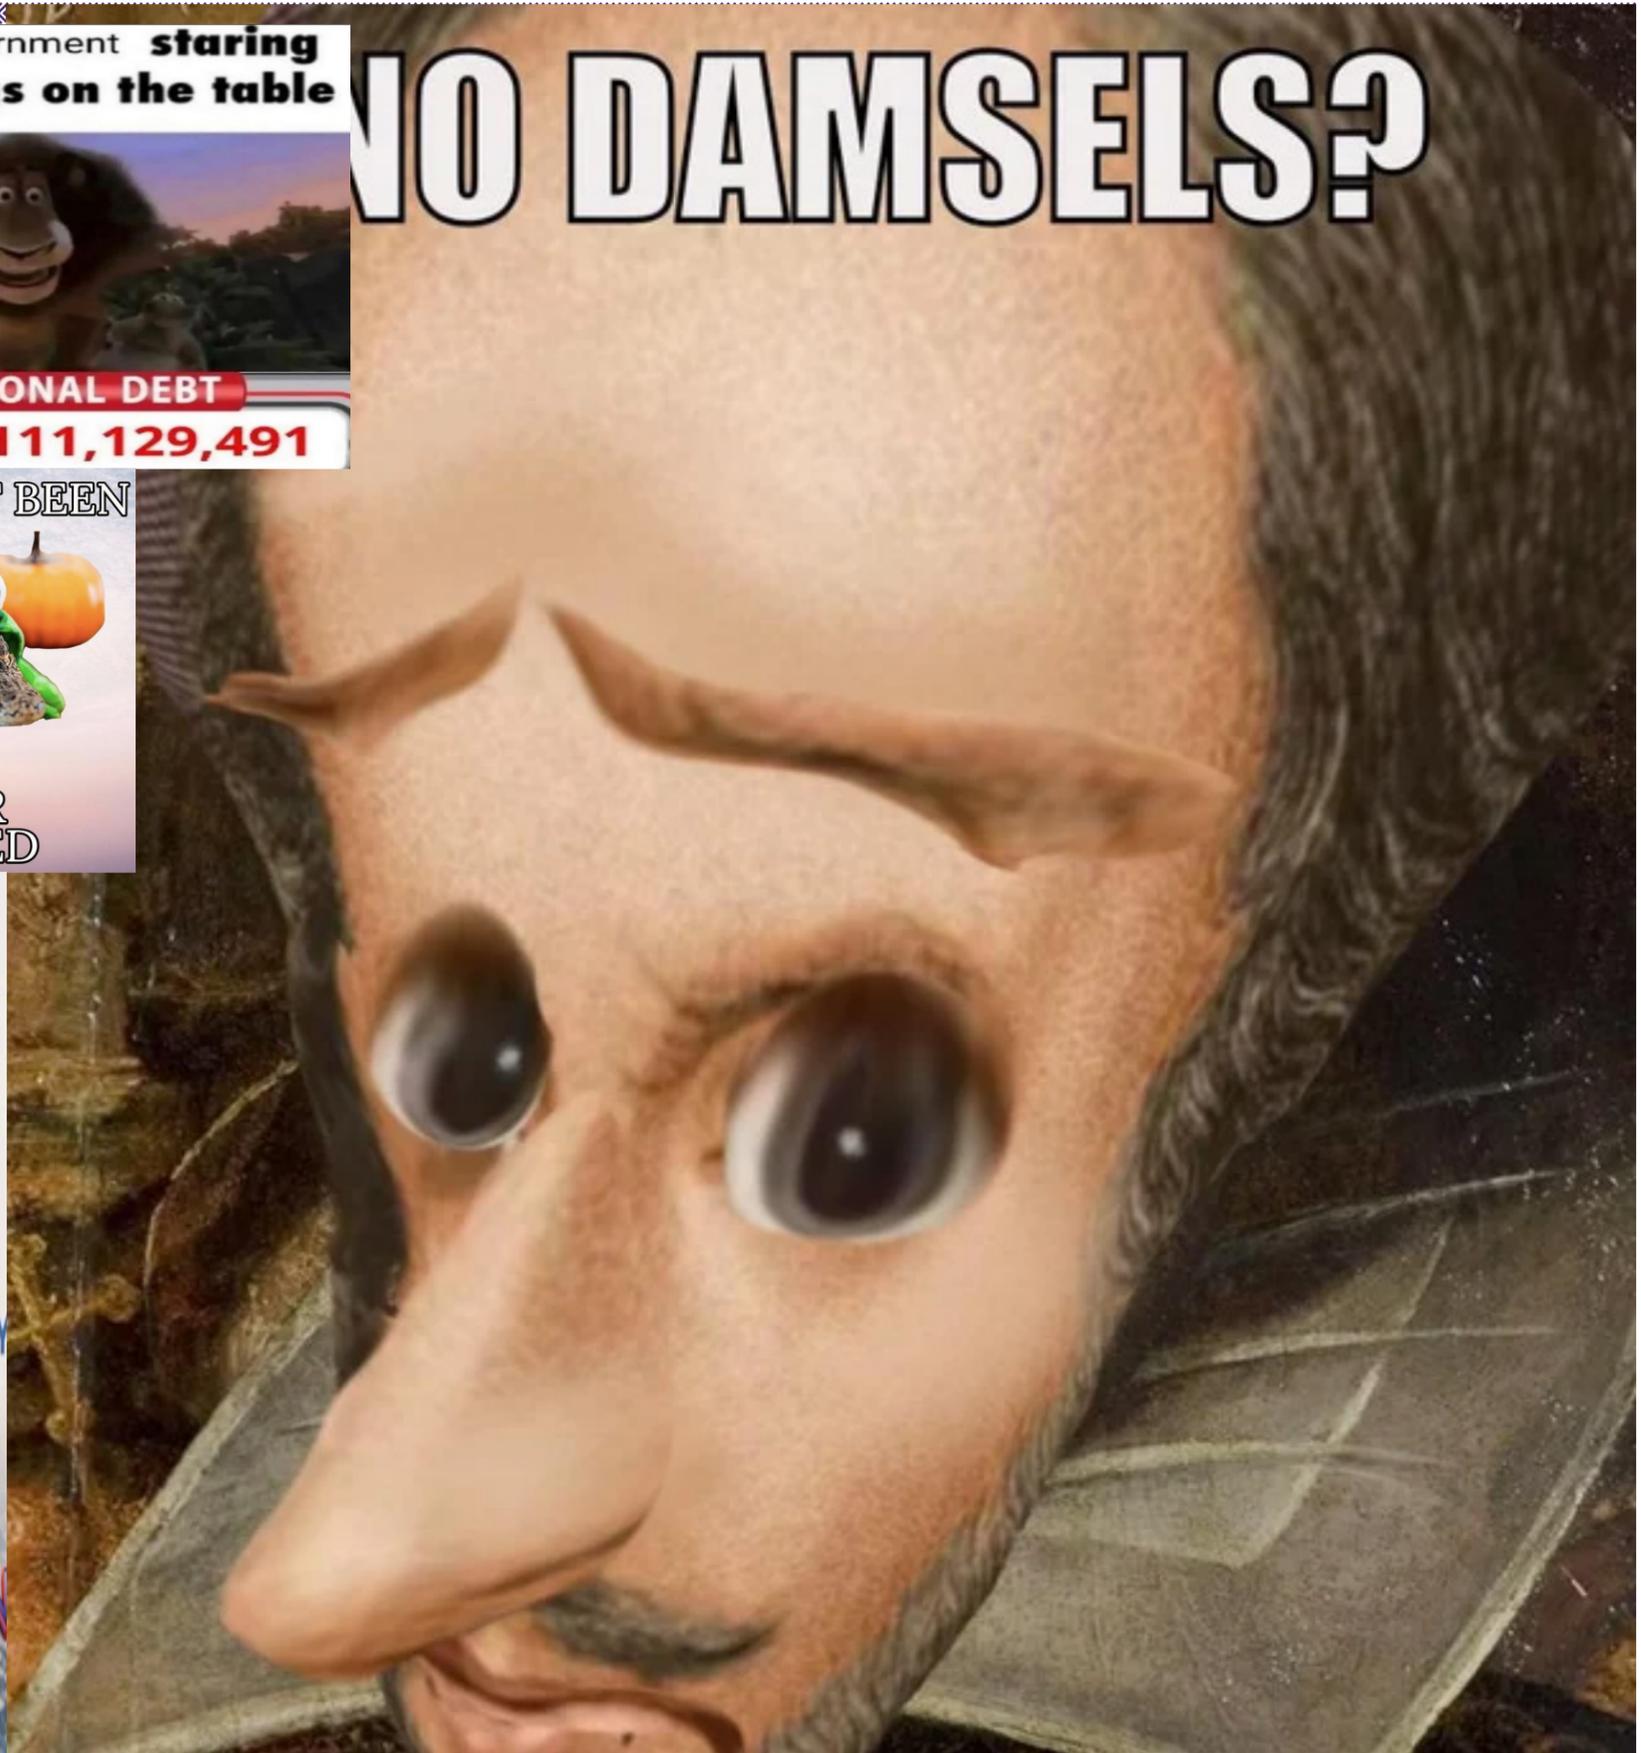

GATOR
FROGGED

SEX 3
SPIDER-MAN
No Wa

CUMMING THIS FALL

NO DAMSELS?

TERRIBLE COCK

UNFORTUNATELY
YES, MEGAMIND

NO BITCHES.

how beautiful the world

without drugs

PLEASE LAUGH

AA

Due to unfortunate events.

no horny

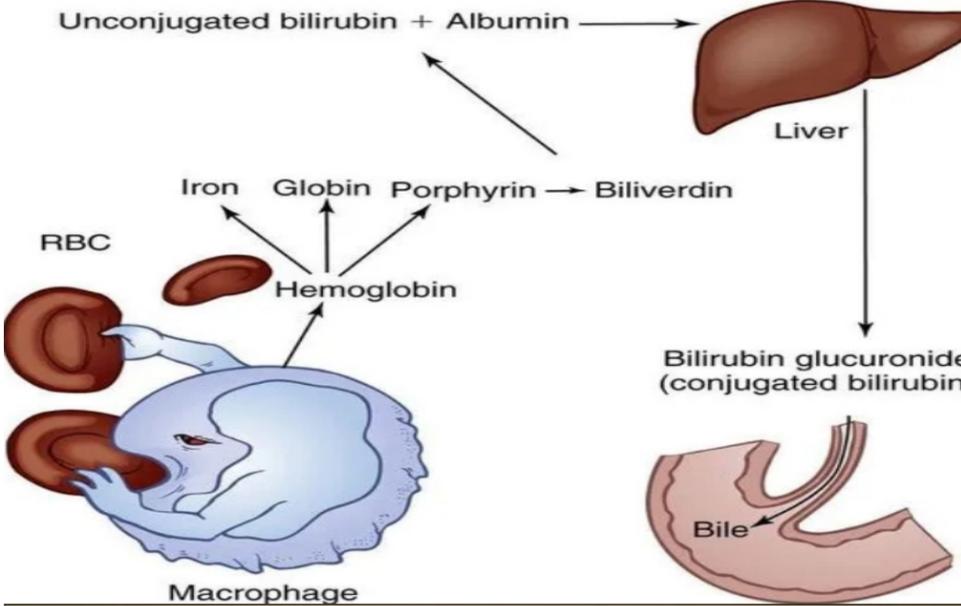

AAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!

free thinkers when paid thinkers show up

L + HEATHEN + NO DAMSELS + GET DUELED + TOUCH GOLD

Girls that Pee

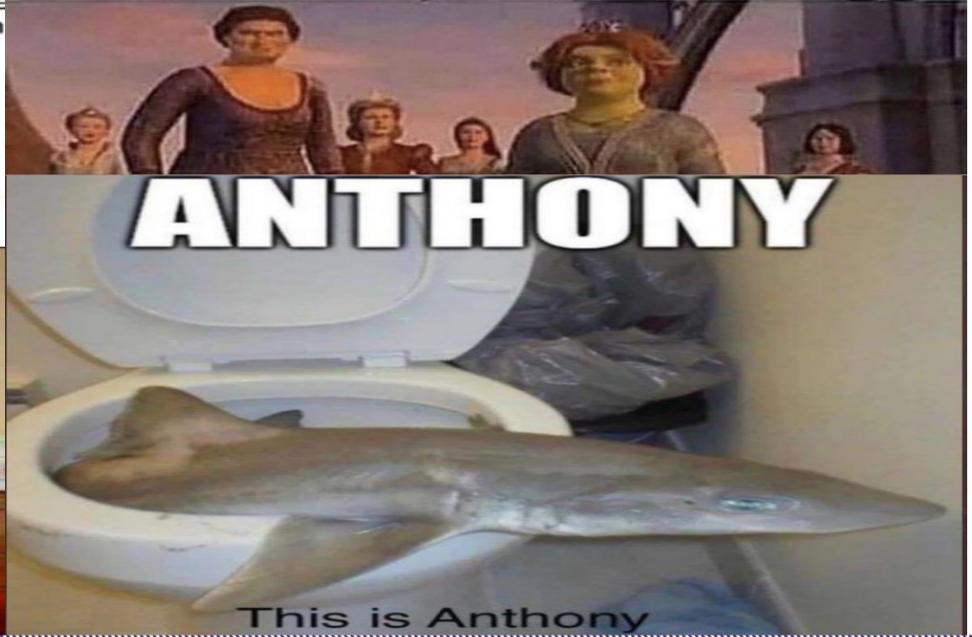

Girls that Piss

flightless bird my ass

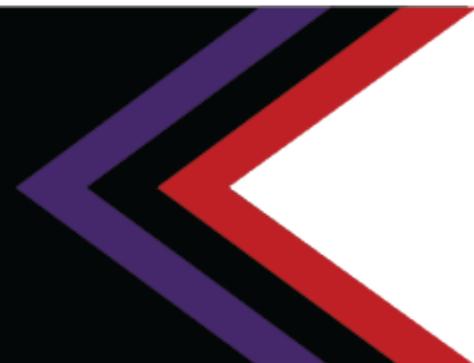

this mf fly as hell

ANTHONY

This is Anthony

MEM

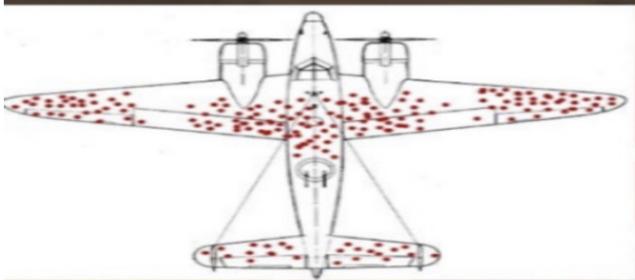

Pee Pee Poo Poo

Ball: touches the floor

Volleyball players:

THINK MARK, THINK!

WHERE WOULD YOU PUT THE ARMOR?

It is not wednesday

my dudes

HEY KING, YOU FORGOT THIS

NOW GO BACK
MINING COBALT

SAY
PERHAPS
TO DRUGS

Perhaps

LAST CALL

THESE FOLKS ARE REAL GOOD CONDUCTORS OF ELECTRICITY... THE IRON PEOPLE!!!

THE IRON MAN NICK "PRUNO NOIR" BUTLER - MECH IV -

Hailing from: Barrie, Ontario

Favorite thing about C-Eng (and it better be the Iron Times or I'm coming for you): All the wonderful folks in our community, and the free CMAS coffee.

Hottest take you have about Carleton: Carleton as an institution has caused significant damage to our community this year through overly strict restrictions that will cause significant change to our traditions, events and community.

Luckiest thing that's ever happened to you: I passed MAAE 4102: Stress and Failure without attending a single lecture.

Worst way to break up with somebody: Disappear from the face of the earth with no warning and then reappear in Brampton two months later in a relationship with another person.

Would you commit treason for a tasty snack? If so, which snack? (the correct answer is blueberry gummi): I would do just about anything for a pot of coffee

C-Eng Involvement: CSES VP Social, CSES Mechanical Representative (x2), EngFrosh Head, OEC Senior Design

USES FOR THE CHARLATAN

> Blow your nose into it when you have Covid

> Roll it into a baton to defent yourself against the army of chonkers

> Build a giant paper boat out of it for frosh week boat races (we all know that shit floats)

> Use it as fort materials

> Clog Carleton toilets with it or cum into it and then clog the Carleton showers

> Wrap fish in it that you get at the fish market, then use it to serve fish and chips

> Make pruno out of it

> Molotov cocktail it

> Build a trojan horse with it to give to the Charlatan editors

> Read it

THE IRON LADY BAILLIE NOELL - SOFT VI -

Hailing from: Niagara Falls, Ontario

Favorite thing about C-Eng (and it better be the Iron Times or I'm coming for you): How helpful and inclusive the community is. Nobody competes with anyone, and we all cheer each other on.

Hottest take you have about Carleton: I fully support the school turning the Tims on campus into Starbucks.

Luckiest thing that's ever happened to you: Being on the right side of 2019 ELEC 2501 curve

Worst way to break up with somebody: Ghosting. Or untrained carrier pigeon, because they get dumped and also have to deal with a bird

Would you commit treason for a tasty snack? If so, which snack? (the correct answer is blueberry gummi): I would do anything for a lifetime supply of watermelon Jolly Ranchers.

C-Eng Involvement: CSES VP Academic 2021-22, EngFrosh Logistics 2021, CSES Software Engineering Rep 2020-21, CSES NEM Outreach 2021, CSES C-Eng-C Communications Director 2020, CSES Website Director 2019-21, CSES Textbook Director 2018-21

Editors-in-Chief

Zahira Bakr
Buster Biggs

VP Publications

Nadiya Scratchley

Special Thanks To:

-Alex Barnett Sheldon, the best spread designer ever!
-Ridley Singh, best advisor!
-Everyone who submitted an article or C-Eng Speaks
-Whoever reads this shit

- Footnotes -

Editors:

-Sydney Doucet
-Joey Blondin
-Owen Short
-Ellis Bissonnette
-Umayer Joarder

Columnists:

-Aaron vandenEnden
-Monica Paul
-Anna Bramble
-Mya Binns
-Zachary Meunier
-Liamm Mirza

LAST CALL

MAN WHY DO PEOPLE KEEP GETTING DUMPED BY PIGEONS

THE IRON ORANGE

SETH "SUMMER SECRET" THOMPSON
- ELEC VII -

Hailing from: Chesterville, Ontario

Favorite thing about C-Eng (and it better be the Iron Times or I'm coming for you): How welcoming and inclusive it is :) I started to get involved in second year and felt very welcomed.

Hottest take you have about Carleton: Most people complained about the caf food in residence but literally the only truly awful thing there was the NASA fish, everything else was fine.

Luckiest thing that's ever happened to you: Lmao passing elec 3105

Worst way to break up with somebody: Look at them dead in the eyes and say "you and I are donion rings".

Would you commit treason for a tasty snack? If so, which snack? (the correct answer is blueberry gummi): Depends who I'm treasoning, like would I stab any of desoc's council in the back? No I wouldn't. But anyone else like hey a mcflurry is a mcflurry, it has to be this way.

C-Eng Involvement: I'm currently the president of DESoc (again) and founded the society aswell, a few years ago I was the electrical engineering councillor for CSES, and I've also volunteered for Leo's, the IEEE, and Cmas before!

A MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNMENT OF CSES

> Get Vaccinated!

> No, this is not a joke. If you are elligable and haven't yet, please get vaccinated!

THE IRON PERSON

NADIYA "ZUCKERBERG" SCRATCHLEY
- AERO C III -

Hailing from: Burnaby, BC

Favorite thing about C-Eng (and it better be the Iron Times or I'm coming for you): As VP Pubs, I should say Iron Times and Gong Show. Instead, I'll say my friends. <3

Hottest take you have about Carleton: The tunnels are haunted. If you lived on Res and walked the tunnels at night, you know it's true.

Luckiest thing that's ever happened to you: Not getting into U of T. I wouldn't have been as happy there as I am at Carleton.

Worst way to break up with somebody: Carrier Pigeon. Trust me, I know from personal experience.

Would you commit treason for a tasty snack? If so, which snack? (the correct answer is blueberry gummi): My favorite snack is Michael Jasper Loh

C-Eng Involvement: CSES (VP Pubs, Graphics Designer, Poster Director CMAS Pubs), C-Eng Musical (Wiring Team x2, Cast, Graphics), Lettuce Club Head x2, Engfrosh Facil x2, Leos Volunteer x2, SCESoc Volunteer

Some Ressources for Mental Health:

- <https://good2talk.ca>
- <https://carleton.ca/wellness/emergency/>
- <https://sascottawa.com/>

- Footnotes -

Issue Made Possible By:

- 69 Nights of a bender where I was high off off education
- 1 VP pubs who just loves procrastinating

Correction:

Fuck you. If you have an issue with this issue (ba-dum-tss), bite me! (Yes I kept this joke in from last time... it's beautiful!

P.S. THE TITLE FONT SIZE IS 69. BETCHA DIDN'T KNOW YOUR VP PUBS WAS A COMEDIC GENIUS. TILL NEXT TIME CENG